

TOES STOOD ON BY HORSE

Another colourful identity at Karaka was complaining that he had been stood on by horses twice whilst handling horses for his son's stud. . His solution was to jam his boot on his foot to keep pressure on it and to increase the personal Gin intake. It took 2 treatments over 2 days to convince him the light worked (he thought the Gin was doing the trick on the first day) He convinced his son to buy a Pro and Compact with Colour Therapy and told everybody who enjoyed hospitality (and lots of Gin) with him how great the Bioptron was!
