

NUMB AND WEAK ARM AFTER VACCINATION

My experiences with the Bioptron light

I am Rebecca Winzig, an 18-year-old girl from Germany who is travelling through New Zealand after her graduation from school. Out of precaution, I had to be vaccinated by a German doctor, as I will also visit Bali in the end of my trip. I was inoculated against hepatitis A and B on my right arm. Three days after the vaccination, my right hand has swollen and felt numb as well as powerless as the doctor had probably hit a nerve. The swelling has slowly disappeared, but the powerlessness and the dumbness have unfortunately remained.

I was sent to 3 different doctors in Germany including a radiologist, a physician and a neurologist. However, nobody could help me.

It was my luck to have met Marcella Popplewell in New Zealand 1 ½ months after my vaccination! After I had told her about the effects of the vaccination, she was sure that the Bioptron light would help against my vaccine damage. And she was right! She gave me a treatment of no more than 10 minutes and the very next day I could feel an improvement! My hand did not feel as powerless as it has felt in the last months. I could easily drive with my car without feeling any pain or powerlessness. One week after the first treatment, Marcella treated me again for some minutes and I am feeling better after every treatment!

I can definitely recommend everybody to buy a Bioptron light, who has to experience vaccine damage like I did. It starts exactly there where the conventional medicine ends. I am delighted!
