Always ask a grown-up for permission if you're using scissors.

1

Fold the paper or card in half if you want to make a proper card, or if you want to make a postcard use the scissors to cut it into the shape you want.

2

Use the old book's pages to cut out letters, characters, or whatever you like to decorate the card. It'll be especially nice if you use characters or objects that you know the card's receiver will like!

3

Add some doodles, stickers or other fun bits to decorate the card. You could even make it a pop-up card - simply cut out a small strip of paper, then fold it like you'd fold a paper fan. Use glue to stick one end of it to the bit you want to pop out, then stick the other end to the card.

4

You're all done! Write a lovely message inside or on the back of the postcard-style card, and wait to see the person smile.
