STACK MUG BY HEATH CERAMICS
$30, heathceramics.com

"My fiancé and I hate working on our wedding registry, but San Francisco-based Heath Ceramics was an easy first stop for us. Its popular Stack Mug, designed in the 1960s, recently got a color-revamp with a new glaze: 'Tartine Teal.' I now want everything I own to be this funky shade of blue." —Dani Vernon, Photo Editor

MAMA SHELTER, LOS ANGELES
From $159/night, mamashelter.com/los-angeles

"This hotel is my kind of L.A. stay: laidback, unstuffy, and with local flavor but not in a celebrity-oriented kind of way. When I spent a few days there last fall, parking nearby was easy—a very welcome surprise—and Hollywood Boulevard is just a block away for early-morning runs. The delicious chilaquiles at the ground-floor restaurant are reason enough to visit." —Spencer Bailey, Editor-in-Chief

RIMOWA ELECTRONIC TAG LUGGAGE
From $670, rimowa.com

"Being borderline O.C.D., it drives me crazy when my airlines sticker-up my luggage. Rimowa's digital-tagged sets not only help me speed through check-in, but also keep my mind at ease." —Marc Lotenberg, CEO

002 LINEN BOMBER JACKET BY STOFFA
From $1,000, stoffa.co

"I'm obsessed with Stöffa's sophisticated take on menswear, from the made-to-measure outerwear to the hand-painted cotton bandanas. There are a handful of cloth and cut options for the jackets, but the cropped bomber styled in sturdy basketweave linen is a perfect spring/summer layer. This is about as good as a casual jacket gets." —Stephen Pulvirent, Executive Digital Editor
