

In our 40 years of experience we have found that, unlike at Christmas, people don't tend to be as concerned about vulnerable people during the summer.

And the reality is that, to some people, homelessness doesn't seem like as serious an issue when the weather is nice.

As a result, donations to homelessness support charities often fade away during the warmer months.

But the issues around homelessness don't go away when the sun shines and this campaign has been created to remind the public that homelessness doesn't fly away when they do.

Homelessness remains a real concern in Birmingham and it is not just limited to those who are sleeping rough on the streets. Hundreds of thousands of people in England are classed as homeless: living in temporary accommodation, rough sleeping or hidden homeless which can include sofa surfing.

Many more people are estimated to be at risk of homelessness or are living in unsuitable housing.

This problem is only expected to escalate as the country faces the challenges of the cost of living crisis.

SIFA Fireside is the main day facility in Birmingham for people who are experiencing or at risk of homelessness. Our Support Centre offers a safe and warm space for people who are rough sleeping or in need of emergency support, where they can access hot food, showers, clothing, emergency accommodation and health and wellbeing services.

But that's not all we do. Our recovery team supports our clients as they move on from homelessness, offering wellbeing groups, legal advice, and employment services, whilst our council-commissioned Adult Support Hub works with vulnerable adults to prevent homelessness across Birmingham.
