SAFE AND EFFECTIVE FORMULA

Let's take a look at the top three herbal wonders in our patented formula for Intestinal Edge™:

Black Walnut Hull

The hull of black walnuts harvested when green is known for its natural supporting properties in the event of intestinal parasites such as tapeworms and hookworms.

Candida albicans yeast is also a growing complaint which can come from a diet high in simple sugars, chlorinated water and prolonged use of antibiotics. This can affect the wall of your intestine and can weaken your immune system.

Compounds found in black walnut hull have been tested effective to give the kind of promoting properties your body needs.

Lavender Flower

Polyphenols in lavender have been found to have a calming effect on your digestive system by helping to create an environment parasites cannot survive in. Lavender flower may help with bloating and cramping as well as helping keep excessive flatulence at bay.

Intestinal Edge™

European Pennyroyal Leaf

This leaf extract has been added because of its many benefits. Three of which are:

- Known in ancient folk medicine to help facilitate digestion by stimulating the secretion of digestive juices.
- Helps settle and soothe an upset stomach by aiding with acid balance.
- Because of its anti-inflammatory support, it can also help soothe irritation and inflammation in the digestive tract.
