

Upbeat Intro Music

Kellie (0:08)

Hey, it's Kellie here from Snarkle Talks, and I've got a sneak peek that'll hopefully spark your curiosity and get your ears perked. In our first episode, we're deep diving into the heart of creativity-- networking, and collaboration. They're the golden key to anyone eager to leave their mark on the creative world and make long lasting impressions and vital connections.

Our first guest is a good friend who is truly great and making those connections and producing amazing art. We'll be talking stories about the business as well as unpacking the secrets to meaningful relationships and showing you how to weave them into your own creative journey.

Kellie (0:47)

But wait, it doesn't stop there! We'll also be discussing a special surprise that we've got brewing a brand new collaboration.

Upbeat Transition Music

Kellie (1:00)

I want to somehow tease this thing that we're doing!

Jack (1:04)

So I was hoping we could do a little bit of that. Yeah!

Kellie (1:07)

I... the thing that we're making is something that I have been so excited to do for a really long time. The shape itself has been brewing in my mind. And I am so glad when we talked at battle this last time that you were like "Yes!" Can you talk a little bit about what was going through your brain when you're like trying to puzzle or new collab together?

Jack (1:34)

Well, first things first, like I kind of hinted at earlier, we have a bar set. So like it has to be crazier. And the goats have done really well. I'm really proud of how they come out every single time we've done it. So I definitely wanted to switch it up, but in a way where we were kind of like, you know, doing what we really like to do, which is like get creative and really push the boundaries. And so when you pitched me this idea, I was like "this is the perfect way to do it."

Upbeat Transition Music

Kellie (2:01)

So whether you're at the beginning of your creative journey or looking to deepen your existing connections, this episode is your beacon. Get ready to be inspired to learn and to hang out with us for a little bit. It's like your favorite group chat, except out loud. Stay tuned and join us on Snarkle Talks. Don't miss out and we'll talk soon