Food can only help with absorption (fat), and it will also make you less prone to heartburn or indigestion from a shift in stomach pH. So I would just take it along with my pre-workout meal/shake and again.

100mg oral winstrol for 8 weeks? - EliteFitness

Re: 100mg oral winstrol for 8 weeks? You should see great results on 100mg's ed. You may want to split it up IM and oral, Winny gives me some terrible indigestion/heartburn when take orally. Also if your joints start to give you problems, cut the dosage down or quit early. 24-Mar-2005, 05:16 PM #9.

It's common with most orals, especially androlics / anapolon. you have a sphincter that controls the acid from coming up your oesophagus, over time it can weaken with bodybuilders when they do certain ranges of movements which causes stress and weakening over time and then acid reflux can become a more permanent issue. Anything that you put into your body will eventually make it to the liver. As @PeterBond said, there's really no research that has been done on the subject, but I suspect that the difference is minimal at best. One advantage is that injectable preparations tend not to be as harsh on the GI tract, so if orals give you heartburn, that could be a compelling reason to try an injectable version.
