

Connecting The Fittings

As you assemble the dripline, be sure to tighten very well each fitting's connectors. Once you have built your system you will want to flush the lines. Turn the water on and let it run clear then install the figure 8's.

Finally, turn on the system to see that it is working properly. You will soon see wet areas begin to form at each emitter, a great indication of where will be the ideal place to plant your plants and seeds.
