“We hope you find inspiration and explore our highly curated, trending, and fashionable products.”

On behalf of the entire TOV family, I am delighted to share our latest magalog. TOV scours the globe for the latest products and trends, and our fantastic team now spans eight countries. As you browse through these pages, we hope you find inspiration and explore our highly curated, trending, and fashionable products.

It is well known that Covid-19 has wreaked devastation on the global supply chain. Considering our big and bulky products, I doubt any industry was adversely affected more than the furniture industry. I recently heard that the furniture industry imports more containers into the US than any other industry. One of the many challenges we face is skyrocketing container costs that now exceed $20,000, or about 12x our historical costs to the west coast. Despite the challenges, all of us at TOV have been working tirelessly and are committed to navigating these turbulent waters.

We are incredibly grateful for our customers and humbled that you choose TOV to be part of your life. Over time we have been fortunate to get to know many of you. TOV customers have exciting spaces and are not a boring bunch!

TOV's goal from day one has been to inspire and educate consumers about furniture trends. Our furniture is made to be stylish, lived in, and enjoyed.

Don't Be Boring!

Best,

Y. Bruce Krinsky

about us

MEET THE TEAM

Our passion for creativity and design expresses a chic and contemporary product.

We know today's customer is looking for much more. They demand a combination of style and affordable value. To give them that, the TOV Design Team is turned loose to go beyond what's always been done and re-imagine the possibilities. The results are stunning. Our bold, cutting-edge designs are not only in-step with the latest fashions, but set new trends as we strive for the perfect balance between style, comfort, quality and price.

We built a company that's easier to do business with. TOV is more about you, less about us, and we are committed to removing obstacles that make it difficult to do business. We've replaced legal disclaimer-speak with straightforward, easy to understand policies written in plain English. Our goal is to offer more choices, fewer restrictions, and a higher level of customer service that may be rare these days, but to us will never go out of style.

DON'T BE BORING.

ATTENTION CUSTOMERS

We continue to improve our warehouse operations and look for ways to serve you better!

TOV Furniture is growing rapidly and looking for new retail partners. We have experienced first-hand how many manufacturers tell dealers how to run their business and aim to run our own business similar to our product design; fresh and clean. We are not looking to create obstacles for our dealers to sell our product. We have many flexible programs that can be tailored to your specific requirements to help you be successful. Meet the furniture manufacturer that will assist you! We care about our dealers and look forward to welcoming you to the TOV family.

Parts and Inventory Fulfillment

What's your favorite part of your job?

I love helping our TOV customers with parts requests, they often don't know we offer spares for their long loved products. I love being able to say 'Yes!'

Are you a morning person or night owl?

Absolutely a morning person, I rise and set with the sun.

If you could choose one song to play every time you walked into a room for the rest of your life, what song would you choose and why?

This one is so hard for me, I'm a big music junkie for all genres! While I like the energy of 'I Do' by Cardi or 'Bow Down' by Bey, I think that might be tough to enter EVERY room to. ;) So, 'Vagabond' by Wolfmother// 'Good Day' by Nappy Roots// 'Good Vibrations' by the Beach Boys. I'd like to inspire positivity when I make an entrance!

TOV products are super versatile and pair together beautifully in so many different ways. Which two pieces would you pair together in your own home?

The Porter in Forest Green is just amazing for me. Paired with my #2...the Flower Marble Table, of course!

What does your perfect day look like?

Waking up early with a fresh Cortado in my favorite cafe, a trip to the ocean for some early morning kayaking, a good hike with my two dogs, and a campfire meal with family and friends to round out the evening.

Name one of your role models and tell us why you respect that person.

I admire qualities in everyone I interact with--everyone has unique talents that inspire me. I am led and driven by those who go after what they want, regardless of circumstance. I find that one of the most admirable traits--to go after your true passions!

TOV Customer Care
Specialist

What's your favorite part of your job?

My favorite part of my job is receiving feedback from our customers that share how much they LOVE their TOV furniture and share photos with us showing how they decorated their home with our items.

Are you a morning person or night owl?

I am definitely a night owl. Since becoming a mom, I find it easier to get things done at night when all is quiet.

If you could choose one song to play every time you walked into a room for the rest of your life, what song would you choose and why?

I would choose "Love is here to stay" by Frank Sinatra. Not only does it put me in a good mood, nothing can beat a golden oldie.

TOV products are super versatile and pair together beautifully in so many different ways. Which two pieces would you pair together in your own home?

The two TOV products that I would pair in my home would be the Gwen mauve velvet chair and the Dimple hand hammered side table. The pair would look great together in an accent corner.

What does your perfect day look like?

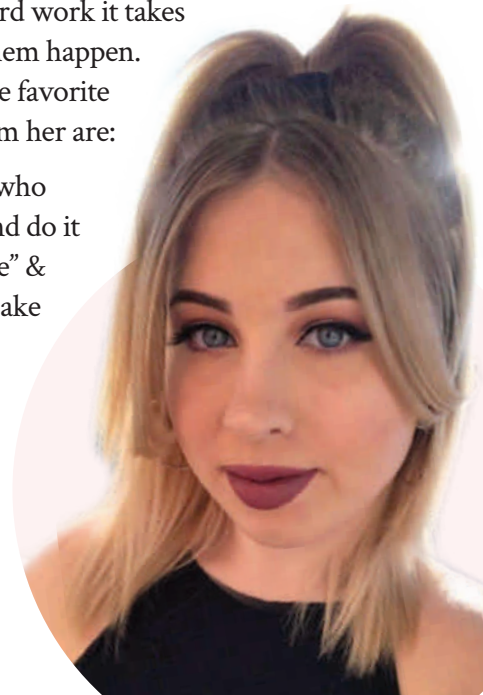

My perfect day would be a day spent in bed or on the couch watching movies. When you're someone who seems to always be "on the go," it feels nice when you don't have anything planned for the day other than spending time with yourself.

Name one of your role models and tell us why you respect that person.

One of my role models would have to be Dolly Parton. Not only is her music inspirational, but she inspires people to believe in the power of dreams and the hard work it takes to make them happen. My all time favorite quotes from her are:

"Find out who you are, and do it on purpose" & "Storms make trees take deeper roots".

planting during a pandemic

It was a combination of the stressful workdays and the uncertain times that lead me to start my garden. By the end of the summer, I had the juiciest tomatoes, plump eggplants, zucchini, kale, spinach, cucumbers, a variety of chilies to choose from and I picked fresh herbs 2-3 times a day for my meals. It was unbelievable! Part of me couldn't believe that all those amazing vegetables came from my own backyard and with my dedication. It wasn't just about the boredom or a way of filling the time, during the lockdown gardening became a sort of therapy for me. Not only was my body getting a good workout plucking out weeds and dragging bags of soil across my yard but my soul fell in love with watching my little baby seedlings sprout into plants and then produce actual vegetables. Gardening allowed me time to mentally clock out from all the heaviness around me to focus solely on creating something with my hands. My garden brought satisfaction and hope back into my life during such a dark time, while tending plants became part of my daily routine.

Coming from a family of farmers, I grew up in Queens plucking pesky weeds from our family garden and watering my grandfather's beloved flower plants. No matter how big or small of a space they had, my extended family grew some sort of fresh peppers, herbs, or even bountiful harvest of squash and pumpkins to share with us in the summer. My uncle would regularly trade a 3 ft. tall Chinese squash for my aunt's Bak Choy. Neighbors would stop by to share some of their spicy peppers with us too! The simple act of sharing a couple of home-grown veggies brought a sense of togetherness and community. My childhood memories inspired me to grow this garden and I'll never look back.

Are you looking to grow your own indoor or mini outdoor garden? Here are a few pro tips on how to successfully get your own little garden started.

tending to my garden became a sort of therapy for me

Getting Started

Location, location, location! Where you grow your garden matters! Pay attention to the sunlight in your space and how it changes throughout the day. Most edible plants need about 5-6 hours in the sun to thrive. If you are in a smaller apartment, consider your space. Windowsill boxes, floor-standing pots, hanging planters or even a plant wall are a few good places to start. Once you've found the perfect spot for your garden, figure out which vegetables you like to eat and if they're suitable to grow in your environment. Herbs are great for indoors and are usually low-maintenance. In-ground gardens allow you some more variety of vegetables.

Needless to say, don't try to plant a fig tree in your Queens studio apartment but with a little bit of research and effort you can have a garden of your own in no time.

Water

Pro tip - focus on the ground and roots. If possible, place your plants as close as possible to your source of water. If you water your plants too much they become prone to disease. Watering too little will stifle your plants and they won't grow to their full potential. Indoor plants usually require less water than you'd think. Keep a close eye on your soil and see how it's reacting to being watered. In my experience, a watering can works the best. Water your plants slowly. By doing so, you allow the water to penetrate to the soil more efficiently. Plant roots need to moist water.

Pro tip - water plants in the early morning or late afternoon when the soil is cooler. Try to avoid watering your plants too late in the day. Plants need time to dry off before it gets dark.

Care

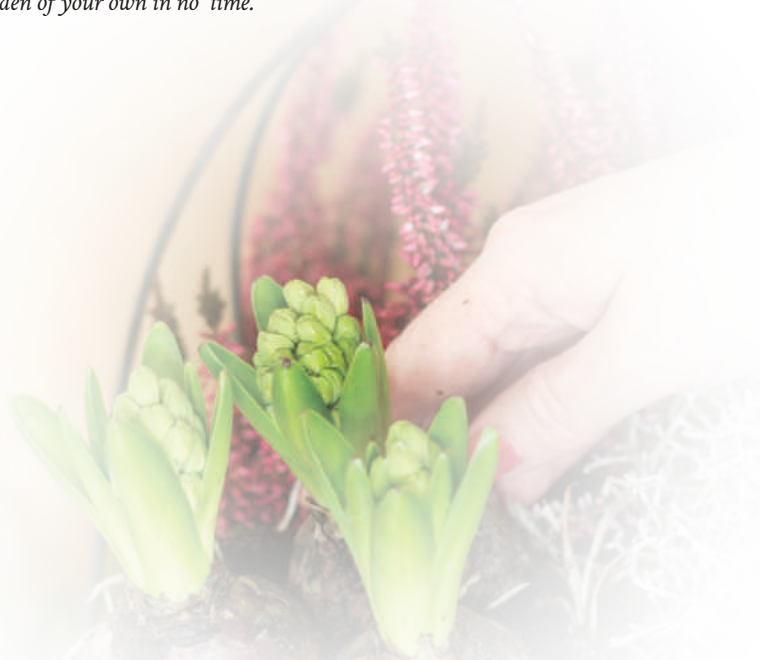

1. Don't pluck your herbs! Use gardening shears to snip your leaves as close as possible to the bottom plants. Additionally, don't overgrow your herbs. They shouldn't get to the point of flowering. As soon as you see a tiny white flower on your basil, cut it off. Your plant will focus on making more leaves instead of flowers.

2. Invest in good fertilizer! Sometimes one or two good bags of soil will greatly benefit the growth and health of your plants.

3. If your veggies look ready to harvest, they probably are! You know what a cucumber and a zucchini is supposed to look like so listen to your gut! Mature veggies will turn dull in color and will develop a yellow tint. The best way to know if your larger vegetables are ready is by implementing the touch test. Ready vegetables are firm to the touch. If you don't pick your veggies when they are ready, that plant might stop producing flowers to bear new fruits. Some plants like tomatoes and peas can be picked earlier and stored away to ripen or store.

4. Save the bees! Gardening is a really good way to help little honey makers. The bee population has been declining at an alarming rate around the world. It's vital that we save them because bees play a critical role in our ecosystem.

Plant flowers and vegetables that attract bees to your outdoor garden. Bees need your plants for nutrients, collect pollen and spread it between flowers so they can produce more seeds. Rosemary is a great example of an herb that attract bees.

GARLIC & HERB PASTA WITH CAPERS

INGREDIENTS:

10 ounces package spaghetti pasta (I used angel hair)

1/3 cup olive oil

2 cloves finely chopped garlic

1/2 pint grape tomatoes halved

3 tablespoons chopped parsley

4 tablespoons capers

1/2 cup white wine

Salt & pepper to taste

Optional freshly grated parmesan

PREPARATION:

Boil the spaghetti according to directions.

While spaghetti is boiling, heat the olive oil in a pan over medium heat.

Saute garlic for one minute.

Add capers & parsley and saute for an additional minute, then add white wine and stir until evaporated.

Remove from heat, add sliced grape tomatoes and stir.

Drain pasta and add back to the pot.

Pour sauce mixture over pasta.

Stir gently until mixed.

Add salt & pepper to taste.

Serve with fresh grated parmesan.

HP Spring 2021

TOV is always evolving, producing on-trend, affordable items and displaying the most current looks at Market. Spring 2021 at High Point Furniture Market focused on insanely cool postmodern-style pieces and tons of rattan. It was refreshing to see our customers again and surprisingly saw a huge turn-out!

Check out photos from the showroom.
