

QUEST

The Titan

A myth more than 300 years old, only regarded as a kids tale, has been deemed truth!

The myth tells of a great ship known as The Titan, a ship built from wood, gold and the remains of a thousand souls of those who built it. This cursed vessel travelled far across the oceans in search for the edge of the world, with a captain longing for what lies beyond and treasures not known to this realm.

Not long ago, The Titan appeared at our shore. I have send some of my men to board and inspect the ship - but they never returned! Whispers have spread that the ship is haunted with its crew and captain still searching for otherworldly treasure.

I seek adventurers to help me board The Titan, find the true intentions of its visit, and as payment we shall share what treasure it might hold. If interested, meet me at the Guards Chamber in the evening.
