

Running the Squirrel-Repelling Routine & What to Expect

1) Once set up & turned on, please allow eight days' worth of repelling in one spot:

This is how Cleanrth's Three-Stage ComboSonic Squirrel Repeller works:

Imagine that you hear a nearby car alarm going off. The sound is very annoying, and you may actually feel it in your bones, but it's not enough to make you leave the area immediately. Eventually though, if it goes on long enough, you'll avoid that location as much as possible and move to a different area.

Squirrels within the repelling-sound area feel Uncomfortable & Disturbed.
Squirrels outside of the repelling area will feel Normal and Comfortable again.

Over time, this uncomfortable feeling trains the unwanted squirrels to avoid the area.

It typically takes 16 days (sometimes sooner) to see results of this squirrel-repelling training

2) Use the 8th day as a check point:

Do you still see squirrel activity on this day? Has the issue diminished at all? If the problem has improved; great, please continue to use the device in its current settings.

If the squirrels are still a major problem: Remember that squirrels aren't as smart as humans, and they can be stubborn, especially if they have access to easy food, a nest, or young in the area.

Now, please change from Mode B to Mode C. Also, check and make sure that the Cleanrth Squirrel Repeller is facing the best possible position so that it has clear view of the area you're trying to repel; extension cords work great for better positioning. Change in repelling is Key to Rat Repelling Success! After making these changes, please allow another 8 days of repelling.

Please allow another eight days of repelling, for a minimum of 16 days total repelling.

3) Use the 16th Day as your last checkpoint:

Has the issue diminished? If not, then it's time for us to help. Please Contact Us and we will move to what we like to call our Stage II worth of help:
