

Tabi Hannah Waldron

Artist and designer Hannah Waldron has collaborated with SCP to develop a new textile collection that utilises the time-honoured double cloth weaving technique.

Architectural elements, stacks of shape, repeated vertical lines and a primary colour palette elevate this design from the constrictions of the technique itself. The design was inspired by a journey through Japan. The indigo hues are the same as those used in traditional Japanese fabrics worn by farmers to repel insects.

Spun, dyed and woven in the UK.
