

Here at USAMM, we are happy to accommodate upgrades to your awards sets whenever possible. All of our medal and ribbon racks are professionally assembled by our production team to create the best appearance and sturdy construction that our military personnel demand. The nature of this superior construction does not always allow for Updatedeasy updates when awards are added or removed. While some awards sets can be updated at a very minimal cost, others take much more time, labor and materials and are therefore more expensive, or, in some cases, cost-prohibitive. Here is an explanation how our Awards Rebuild Policy breaks down:

Standard (slide-on) ribbon racks:

Standard ribbon racks can be sent in for updates of devices as well as new ribbons. (For devices only, please see the Device Upgrade section, below.) For adding new ribbons, charges will include the cost of the new ribbons(s), the new ribbon rack and any upgrades to devices.

Thin ribbons:

While we are happy to make modifications to most devices (see Device Upgrade section, below) we are unable to make changes involving addition or subtraction of ribbons. These awards sets are permanently constructed to reflect each service-members unique award history. Modification of these sets, however, would require more parts and labor than would be cost effective. To save our customers money, and especially time, a new ribbon rack set will need to be purchased to reflect any ribbon modifications.

Medals (Full-Sized and Miniature):

We know how expensive medals can be and although updates do require a good deal of new material and labor, we do our best to keep costs down when upgrades are required for full-sized and miniature medal mounts. By reusing what we can (devices and medallions) from the original set we can typically reduce the cost of the updated set to about 70% of the cost of a brand new order.

Device Upgrades:

Updates to devices are easy and much less expensive than purchasing a new rack. A $5.00 labor fee (plus the cost of the new device) is assessed to each rack sent in for updates, regardless of the number of updates being made.

Shipping note:

Before sending in your awards set for updates, please ensure that there is ample time to make your updates. In instances where your awards are needed back quickly, the cost of expedited shipping from you to USAMM and back often ends up negating any savings gained by sending in the awards set. For maximum savings, please allow approximately two weeks' time for awards to be processed and returned.
