

#BULLCON18

Are you ready? It's time for ambitious women (and nonbinary people) of all stripes to converge for the Sixth Annual Bullish Conference!

We believe in the #hustle. We believe in equality of all people in the workplace and in the world. We believe in becoming better. We believe in working hard and cleverly. We are Bullish.

The Main Event will take place 8AM - 5PM Monday and Tuesday at The Saguaro in Palm Springs, CA. Check in Sunday and check out Tuesday to get in some extra networking time.

Boost Your Skillset -

The Bullish Conference will provide powerful presentations and trainings on topics including:

- Time Management
- Productivity
- Innovation and Problem Solving
- The Entrepreneurial Mindset
- Confidence
- Public Speaking
- Presentation Skills

We're so not into panel discussions. Instead, we're about practical workshops, serious "how-to" details, and tightly concentrated inspiration.

Amazing Speakers (and career role models!): include experts on time management, career planning, negotiating, public speaking, overcoming personal obstacles, and other hot-button topics for women and nonbinary people in the workplace.

Network Like a Boss: This conference attracts working women, entrepreneurs, DIYers, freelancers, artists, students/interns, managers, upper-level #bossladies, and Lean-In style power players. What we all have in common is the desire to work better - and to make the workplace and the world better.

Your Ticket Includes: all sessions and workshops, breakfast. Plus happy hours and snack breaks, and online get-to-know-you experiences in the weeks and months before the conference.

Sponsorship opportunities available for companies sending attendees to BullCon.
