My pain is your loss
When I stand outside, who will slip the pocket into my hand Sacriligious
He picks orange cause it arouses him Be my best wish if I choke you tenderly, will you relax What is your body now jaw in translucent tentacles *Better suited for posteriority Girdled shoulders wait lobe endings, nerve mendings I am light Baby, let me dig you a craving the cage is protection from distraction double policy names worth noting to eight layers of mute oftentimes out
lover of all things just graces every household claim your trophies when you had to push buttons to be heard now without a second glance Late nights earlier maybe what you say is not true but I poured my bedsheets on the deck shiver melts on palms crossing ligaments
over etching
a charter flight to paradise

What others say
I know your body better than you do
