

LANGFORD CANOE

Algonquin

High Performance Symmetrical

The Algonquin is the original Langford Canoe, a beautifully crafted "Plank and Rib" Red Cedar canoe built on a meticulously refurbished 1940s-era mold. For true enthusiasts, the Algonquin offers a rare opportunity to reconnect with a piece of Canadian history. With its bold recurve stems, pronounced "tumble-home," and classic gunwales, this canoe exudes the charm and elegance of yesteryear.

Designed for purpose and durability, the Algonquin was built as a workhorse—shaped to carry both paddlers and gear across lakes of all sizes, in all weather conditions. Its deep hull, clean lines, and increasing rocker allow the 16-footer to glide quickly and handle effortlessly, whether paddled empty or loaded with gear.

Over 2,000 gleaming brass tacks shine through the hull's mirror-polished, low-maintenance epoxy skin, completing the Algonquin's timeless appeal.
