INTRODUCTION

Thanks for checking on us at Babynow. We are glad to have you and we are sure you will be served well. At Babynow, we know parenting is challenging, but if you learn new techniques and skills on how to parent your child, you too can be a wonderful parent. One way to ensure that you are an effective parent is to have the proper parenting education. Many people make the choice to become parents for different reasons. However, along with the incredible joy it brings come many questions, problems, and difficulties. Children are all unique individuals who are sure to let you know when they are experiencing troubles or have something on their minds.

Although it is important to spend time with your kids, it is also important to take time for yourself. This will help you unwind so that you can become a more effective parent, and find out who you really are. Interesting toys are not only good to baby intelligence, but also conducive to their physical development. Do you know playing with this kind of toys will make your baby more intelligent and keep them growing?

Babynow baby teether is made from medical grade silicone, to meet the physical needs of children in the teeth-growing period. The teether can massage the gums to relieve the discomfort caused by teething. It also appease baby's irritable mood in teething. It helps your baby distinguish different colors and shapes, having the educational function.

HOW BABY TEETHING TOYS HELP BABY TEETH COMFORTABLY

Babies start to teeth at around seven months, but some babies start to teeth at around three months and others start much later, at one year old. They will start to grab at everything and bite on them, and they will also start to drool more than they usually do. Whenever the father or mother of the baby started teething when they were babies is probably the time that the baby will start to teeth.

In order to make teething more comfortable for your baby, you can buy them teething toys. This way, they will not grab at unsanitary and possibly dangerous things. Their teething will probably end at around two or three years of age, and by then they should have about twenty baby teeth.

These types of toys are available in three types. First, there are the soft toys which are meant for the first stages of your baby's teething, before the teeth start to come out. These are usually in the form of cloth and stuffed animals. To make things more exciting for your baby, there are also squeaky teething toys.

When your baby's gums start to become irritated, there are soothing cool toys. These are hollow and filled with sanitized water. They are put in the fridge to cool so that when your baby needs to chew on it, the coolness makes your baby's gums more comfortable. Your baby will also be fascinated by the temperature and have fun with the toy.

The last kind of teething toys are solid baby toys for when you can see the teeth coming out already. These kinds of toys are made from soft rubber, silicone, & plastics which are painted on with nontoxic paint, examples of which include teething rings by Babynow.

When you choose your baby's teething toys, you can bring your baby along to help you choose. Bright colors and shapes interest babies, so choose the ones that your baby likes the most. This way, they will have fun playing with their toy and they will not resort to picking up random and possibly harmful objects.

WHY A BABY NEEDS A TEETHER

When you are expecting a baby, it can be overwhelming to shop for everything that your baby will need. Buying tiny little outfits and decorating your baby's nursery are definitely the most fun parts of preparing but they are only one step in the process.

For someone who will weigh less than 10 pounds at birth, they will need dozens of supplies to take care of them for their first year of life. If you can be fully prepared for your baby before they are born, that is one less thing to worry about after birth, and trust me - you will have enough to worry about.

Some of your baby's first needs are obvious: a place to sleep, clothes to wear and nappies to keep them clean. However, there may be items that you don't even think about until you need them like baby nail clippers, mittens to keep them from scratching their faces and teething toys.

You may think your baby won't need any toys in the beginning but some babies begin teething as young as 2 months old! If you aren't prepared with a teether then you will have no way to provide your baby with any relief. A teething baby won't sleep, eat or act normally so you don't want to delay in giving your baby something to chew on and soothe their gums.

There are teethers of many forms and there are teethers that can be frozen. While they both have their benefits, they might not be able to do what they are meant for because as small as babies are, they love to be in control.

To prevent this from ever happening, pick up a Babynow teether. This teether is made of safe and chemical free materials.

The teethers are made of silicone so they won't hurt your baby's growing teething and it will not break off in your baby's mouth. Whether you are home on the couch or out at the store, your baby can chew on the teether whenever their gums start to hurt them.

In addition to giving your baby some relief, a baby teether will also give you something: peace of mind. So when you are creating your baby supply list, don't forget to add a couple of Babynow teether so you can always provide your baby comfort, no matter where you are.

WHY BABYNOW TEETHER FITS INTO EVERY STAGE OF TEETHING

Do you have a baby that is starting to get in some teeth? Or do you need to purchase a gift for someone's child that is teething? If so, a teething toy is the perfect multi-functional gift for the child. Before going out shopping for an infant teether, you should get familiar with the different stages of teething because some of the teethers are actually specifically designed just for a specific stage of teething.

There are three different stages of teething. The first stage is about the front teeth. If you have an infant in this stage of teething, Babynow teether works to massage the gums of the child and that is suitable for sterilization. The second stage is about the middle chompers. In this stage of teething, you can be sure of the effectiveness of Babynow teether because it features multiple textures and it massages the gums and also provides cooling relief to the child's sore gums. The third stage is about the ones in the back of the mouth. In this stage of teething, Babynow teether is also effective because it showcases multiple textures on the surface for cooling and massaging the gums of the child. You need to focus on looking for teething toys that are designed to encourage play. That way the toy serves more than one purpose.

As you can see, the child that is experiencing this has different needs during the different stages of teething. Of course, when you are looking to shop for baby teether, you may not come across many of these toys that label the teething stage that they are intended for. This just means that you can use the toy for all three stages just like in Babynow teether. With this type of multi-stage teether, the toy has features that meet the needs of all three stages of teething. Another part may be an actual toy and even another part will feature different types of surfaces, such as ridges and bubbles to help massage the gums when the infant chews on the toy.

If you ask any parent what they remember about teething, you will get the same answers. Lots of drooling and many sleepless nights trying to help relieve baby's discomfort are at the top of the list to be sure. Parents have the difficult task of trying to help alleviate baby's pain without baby being able to tell you what is working and what is not working. It is possible to utilize some simple home remedies to help sooth your baby's discomfort.

Teething does not last forever even though it is quite a difficult stage for your baby to traverse. Using Babynow teether will ensure that the teething period does not bring stress both to the parent and the baby
