Time of miracles

The Magic of Red

The festive red color is traditionally associated with New Year and Christmas celebrations. By using it, you can easily create an impressive and highly photogenic table setting that will undoubtedly capture the admiring glances of guests. The centerpiece of this arrangement is a composition of red flowers and berries placed in the snowy-white sculptural vase 'Fast' from Rosenthal – resembling a frozen waterfall, it introduces originality into classical aesthetics. The interplay of red and white continues in the dinnerware from the Mix&Match Home brand, adorned with New Year symbols: airy snowflakes, stars, and crimson clusters of holly. Two more vibrant accents are provided by red lace napkins and the crystal candle holder Nachtmann Ravello, which seems to glow, shimmering in all shades of crimson when lit. Adding grandeur and solemnity to the setting are items with glossy silver finishes: among them are an elegant caviar bowl and butter dish from Schiavon, as well as a unique nut bowl from Michael Aram, whose texture is reminiscent of a coral reef. The final touch includes faceted tableware Décor de table in vintage style, imparting a truly French chic to the setting.

Snow Waltz

Introduce a touch of enchantment to your home this winter with the magical allure of silver. The 'Platinum Dust' dinnerware set from the Japanese brand Narumi is a captivating choice. Crafted from white bone china, it features a gradient pattern of delicate squares, lending a subtle and mesmerizing sparkle reminiscent of frost on birch branches during a chilly morning. The sleek and modern design seamlessly integrates into contemporary minimalist table settings. To enhance this enchanting atmosphere, consider the silver candle holder by Michael Aram, resembling a gracefully bending tree. Its intricate form adds a dynamic element to the composition. Balance the complexity with the timeless Bernadotte fruit bowl from Georg Jensen, a design rooted in the functionalism of the 1930s. Complete the tableau with transparent glasses and refined champagne flutes from Décor de table, resembling elegant ice sculptures. Together, these elements create a winter wonderland ambiance that transforms your dining experience into a dance of delicate snowflakes

Under the sign of the dragon

The Dragon is the only mythical creature among the twelve animals of the Chinese zodiac. Traditionally considered one of the strongest and wisest signs in the Eastern calendar, the Dragon has long been a symbol of imperial power in China. Despite its might, the Dragon holds the fifth position in the Eastern zodiac. According to a beautiful legend, this happened due to the noble nature of the Dragon. During the race that was supposed to determine the order of the zodiac signs, the Dragon deviated from the route to help the inhabitants of two villages suffering from drought and flooding. Then, out of generosity, the Dragon allowed the Rabbit, who was being chased by a wolf, to pass ahead—due to these circumstances, the compassionate Dragon failed to finish first.

In Chinese mythology, dragons can control rain and wind, influence the weather, and bring prosperity and luck to people. This is what one can expect, above all, from the sign in the upcoming year. The element associated with the Dragon in 2024 is wood, which in Chinese culture is a symbol of growth, energy, and development. This means that throughout the twelve months, one can confidently strive towards the most ambitious goals: the Dragon will undoubtedly become a influential patron for those who are not afraid of challenges
