

Maha Mala
WHOLESALE PRICE 2017

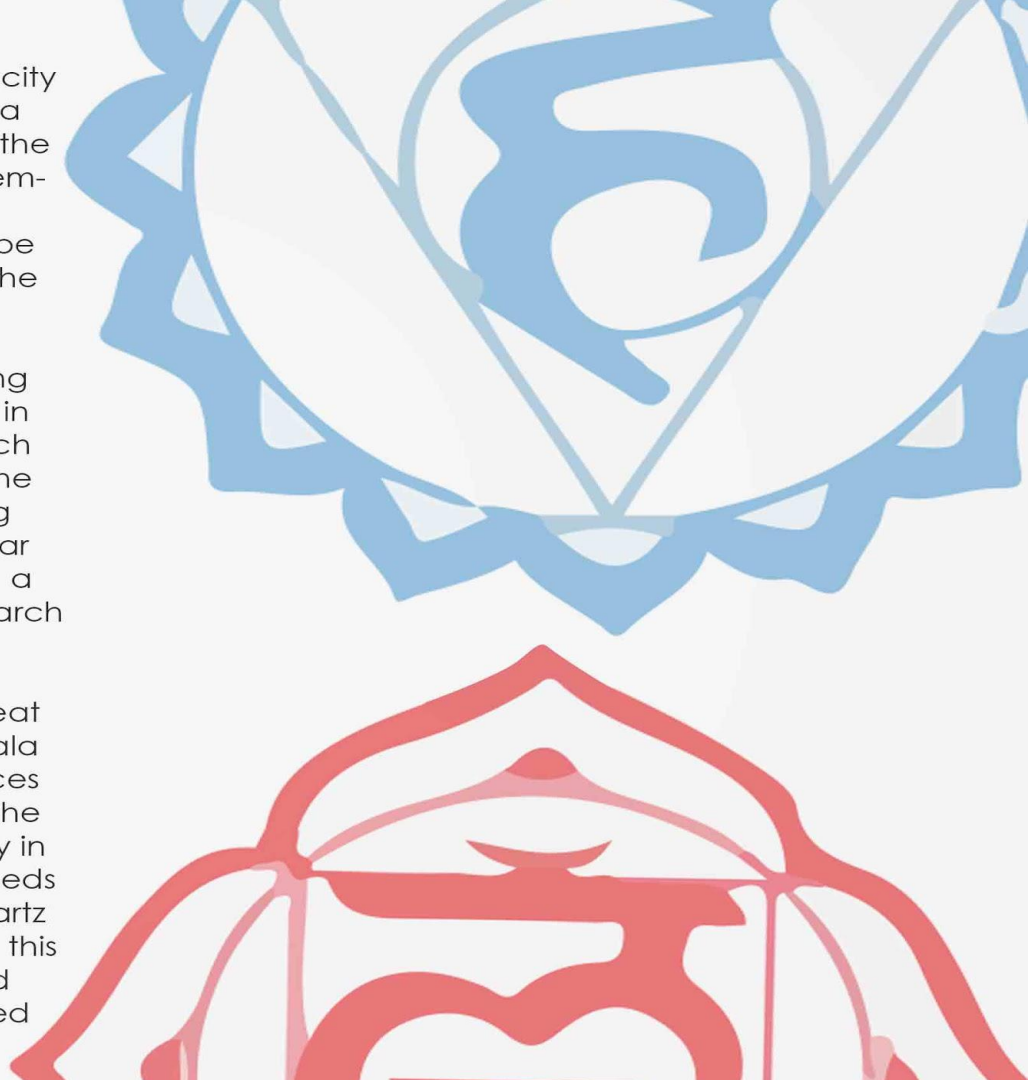

Maha Mala is created in the capital city Delhi, which is the heartland of India. Maha Mala designs beautiful 108 bead necklaces using both the traditional rudraksha seed and semi precious gemstones.

These necklaces (known as malas in hindi) can be used as spiritual jewellery or as japa malas (japa is the practice of mantra recitation).

Each piece has been hand strung together using beautiful semi-precious stones, which are sources in Jaipur, also known as the City of Gems, in India. Each piece has been made keeping in mind not only the aesthetic look but also the beneficial healing properties which are inherent in the that particular gemstone. Thus each Maha Mala piece becomes a beautifully potent energetic tool in the constant search for meaning in our own lives.

Maha Mala translated from hindi means 'The great garland or necklace'. Traditionally in India a Mala (necklace) was used as a tool in meditation practices as an aid in keeping count of the number of times the practitioner recited a certain mantra. Commonly in India a Mala is made out of the highly textured seeds like rudraksha, tulsi wood (sacred basil wood), Quartz Crystal or Sandal wood. Maha Mala was built upon this tradition to create uniquely designed malas and bracelets which appeal to a wider, spiritually inclined audience.

Each of our products also comes in a Kadhi pouch. Khadi is an organic, hand spun and hand woven cotton which was worn and promoted by Mahatma Gandhi in his efforts to convince the Indian population to be self reliant in a time where most cotton clothes were being bought from the British.

This khadi cloth we use, comes from the small town of Wardha in Maharashtra, a place founded by Gandhi himself, called Magan Sangrahalaya Samiti (MSS). It is the first museum of rural industries and khadi fabric in India. One main focus of the MSS is the khadi wing. The fabric they produce is spun on the traditional Charka (spinning wheel) and dyed using natural dyes, the patterns are then block printed by hand.

Furthermore, back in Delhi, where Maha Mala is based, the fabric is sewn together by the women of Sewing New futures, a foundation that provides vocational skills to underprivileged women in the suburbs of the capital.

Each Product also comes with a printed tag stating the stones used and their beneficial properties.

Maha Mala believes in Non-violence, supports local artisans and buys fair-trade.

Range Introduction

The word chakra comes from the sanskrit word 'Wheel'. Chakras are essentially believed to be points of energy located on the human body. Humans are known to have 7 main chakra points which are located on the spine.

Our Chakra Range consists of 7 malas, 7 bracelets and 7 wrist wraps. Each of which signify one of the 7 chakras that exist in the human body. Starting from Manipura (Root) and going up to Sahasrara (Crown).

Each mala or bracelet has been designed with gem stones which strongly resonate with the Chakras frequencies with stones electromagnetic energies and colour. We also use 92.5 sterling silver pendants depicting the yantra resonating with each chakra. The yantras have letters in them signifying the sound resonance of each of the chakras.

The combination of all of the above, helps in activating and opening those energy points on our bodies. This helps the energy flow freely throughout the body, keeping our physical, emotional, and spiritual health in balance.
