A while back I introduced you Surya Brasil in my mini series of Things that did not work for me, I had tried the henna powder but with my bleached hair they did not go hand in hand. Henna powder is not the only thing Surya Brasil has to offer and today I am introducing you to their Sapient Men Range.

Sapient Men Range is Surya Brasil first Men's cosmetic line and has Ecocert Organic Certification.

It has:

- No synthetic fragrance
- No sulfates or phthalates
- No petroleum by products
- No silicone
- No gluten

It specially formulated products for a man's tougher skin. With citrus, spice and woody notes scents, all derived from pure essential oil and ethically harvested plants and fruits from the Amazon.

A while back I kindly received the Sapient Men Shave Cream in a goodie bag, with the other half not keen on shaving and always hosting a five o'clock shadow or a manly beard I passed it on to my father to give it a test.

Here is what Daddy had to say:

"I have used Sapient Shave Cream for my last 3 shaves. Each time I have had a very close shave using less strokes than I would normally use with my old shaving cream. My skin feels smoother and refresh after each shave. It really does give a closer shave as I fine I have to shave less often because of the closer shave it gives. I also love the fragrance it leaves."
