Titanium

Titanium is a preferred material for initial piercings because it has the highest Biocompatibility of ANY metal and it doesn't contain nickel. Because of its nickel free content, Titanium rarely induces an allergic reaction in its wearers and because it is highly resistant to corrosion, it is less likely than other materials to react with body fluids. Titanium is ideal and highly recommended for Hypersensitive users. Those with hypersensitivity issues should use Titanium instead of surgical steel.
