LESSONS SIXTY-NINE AND SEVENTY: Copywork

Copy the following poem onto the lines that follow. Do one section each day.

A wise old owl lived in an oak;
The more he saw the less he spoke;

The less he spoke the more he heard:
Why can't we all be like that bird?

LESSON SEVENTY-ONE: Singular and Plural Words

The poem you copied yesterday was about an owl. The picture from the other day was of several owls. What is the difference in these two underlined words? One is singular, while the other is plural. The word, “singular”, means “single”, or one. The word, “owl” is therefore a singular word, while the word, “owls”, meaning more than one owl, is a plural word.
