■ 2. General Safety Information

- Safe production, operation and use by installers is qualified personnel only.
- Qualified personnel must have the following skills: Training in the installation and operation of electrical equipment and hazards involved (such as risk assessment, the use of personal protective equipment and following safety regulations).
- When exposed to direct sunlight, a single module may generate DC voltages exceeding 60V and pose a risk of fatal shock. Do not touch the cables unless you are sure that the connecting wires that are connected to the module are not live.
- Please operate with specialist tools. Unknown or loss your tools to further issues. It is the responsibility of the user to keep the tools.

- The cable includes current cable among the DC electricity, and they are designed to withstand the maximum current of the system. Please ensure that the cable is in contact with the metal edges and installed in such a way that it is not damaged by abrasion, pressure, bending or tension.
- Do not attempt to disassemble the module, or remove any attached nameplates or labels from the module.
- Do not stack modules on top of each other.
- Do not expose the surface of the module to reflective surfaces that is artificially concentrated sunlight.
- Do not touch the surface of the module with sharp objects.
- Do not expose the module to flammable gases or vapors.
- Do not drop the module or subject it to shock absorb vibrations that will accelerate aging.

■ 3. Safety Precautions

- Wear dark clothes as the light-receiving surface of the solar module, the solar module will generate DC voltage when exposed to light. Please do not touch the positive and negative terminals of the solar module with your hands or skin to avoid electric shock. Please do not touch the positive and negative terminals of the solar module with your hands or skin to avoid electric shock.
- Please do not touch the positive and negative terminals of the solar module with your hands or skin to avoid electric shock.
- Please do not touch the positive and negative terminals of the solar module with your hands or skin to avoid electric shock.
- Please do not touch the positive and negative terminals of the solar module with your hands or skin to avoid electric shock.

■ 4. Unpacking and Precautions

Carefully unpack the solar panel and ensure that all instructions on the package are followed. The contents are listed as follows:

■ 4.1 Unpacking and Precautions

Carefully unpack the solar panel and ensure that all instructions on the package are followed. The contents are listed as follows:

■ 4.2 Preinstallation Requirements

Ensure that the installer complies with all local and national electrical codes and that the installation is carried out by a qualified electrician. The solar panel and the inverter can be connected in series to increase voltage or in parallel to increase current. Please refer to the inverter manual for the maximum number of solar panels that can be connected in series or in parallel. It is also recommended to use the same type of solar panels in the same system to ensure optimal performance and to avoid power loss caused by mismatched panels.

A series connection is shown in the diagram:

■ 5. Installation Procedures and Precautions

It is recommended that installers with the same electrical values be connected in series. The maximum number of panels in series must not exceed the maximum system voltage of the inverter. Please refer to the inverter manual for more information.

■ 5.1 Commissioning and Troubleshooting

Before commissioning the system, perform a visual inspection to determine if the cable system is correctly installed and all connections are tight. Measure the open circuit voltage and short circuit current of the solar panel or array using a multimeter. Compare the measured values with the specifications on the label or in the specification sheet. If the measured values are significantly lower than the specified values, check the wiring for faults such as incorrect connections or poor contact.

To operate the load directly, the module should first be shaded such that it is in the maximum power point voltage range of the load. Then, the load can be connected to the module and the shade removed. The module will then operate at the maximum power point.

■ 5.2 Maintenance

- Clean the surface of the module with a soft cloth and a soft sponge or other soft cleaning tool. Do not use abrasive cleaners or solvents. Do not scratch the surface of the module.
- Inspect the cables and connectors for damage or corrosion. Ensure that all connections are tight and free of dirt and moisture. Do not disconnect the cables while the system is under load.
- Check the mounting system for stability and corrosion. Tighten any loose bolts or screws. Replace any damaged or corroded components.
- Monitor the performance of the system regularly. Compare the actual output with the expected output based on the irradiance and temperature. Investigate any significant deviations and take corrective actions if necessary.

■ 6. Product Specifications

| | |
|---|---|
| Maximum Power (Pmax) | 400W ±3% |
| Maximum Voltage (Vmp) | 20.8V ±3% |
| Short-circuit current (Isc) | 25.0A ±3% |
| Open-circuit voltage (Voc) | 24.8V ±3% |
| Maximum system voltage (VDC) | 1000V |
| Operating temperature | -40°C ~ 85°C (-40°F ~ 185°F) |
| Operating environment humidity | 0 ~ 100% RH, condensation, 1 x 10⁵ Pa atmospheric pressure or higher |
| Protection class | IP68 |
| Installation angle | Adjustable between 0° and 90° |
| Wind resistance | 2400Pa |
