2022 ADELAIDE HILLS 'SASHIKO' PINOT GRIS

After an incredible vintage in 2021, the 2022 vintage does not disappoint. The Adelaide Hills has produced two excellent vintages in a row now. A cool, wet spring leading into the growing season saw good soil moisture, which led into a warm November and an even and coolish summer with no extreme weather events. The resulting fruit was bright and flavoursome with excellent acidity.

TASTING NOTES

This wine shows exceptional clarity with a colour of very pale straw. The nose is abundant with pear, nashi pear and a hint of blossom. Pear predominates a palate which also shows green apple, orange blossom and citrus notes.

Good acidity balances out a lush and generous mouth feel.

FOOD MATCH: A delightful drink by itself and will also match beautifully to a range of seafood and poultry dishes, but it's hard to go past free range Chicken Waldorf Salad with this lovely wine.
