THIS IS US

We are Alex and Laura, sisters, original fen girls, mums, wine lovers and founders of Olive&Wallis - established in 2019.

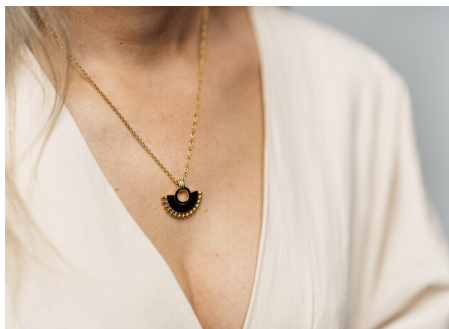

We design and make jewellery from a range of mixed metals allowing us to provide the most durable and cost effective pieces that we can. We have an established and successful website, five stockists and we're a seller on Not on the Highstreet.

We pride ourselves on providing a totally personal experience. It is just the two of us here so we are able to cover all areas between us, including making our jewellery in small batches to ensure the best possible quality. To us, this is super important, we want our stockists to feel this too.

We hope to grow our small business through stockists and website sales, and help women feel wonderful through our jewellery.

METALS

Stainless steel features heavily in our collection and it's easy to see why! Not only is hypoallergenic, it won't rust or tarnish, it's super durable with zero maintenance making it ideal for everyday use.

The techno bit! - The steel is coated in an invisible layer of chromium that prevents oxidation and if that isn't enough! It is infinitely recyclable and so supports our passion for a sustainable life style (it's our fav!)

However! We do use other metals which enables us to keep costs down and meet customer requirements.

24kt gold and rhodium plate provides the high fashion high gloss vibe that is loved by so many and the popular 18kt PVD that provides all the gloss of plating but with the durability to back it up!

What inspires us

Lots of our inspiration comes from pieces that have been handed down through our family. Keepsakes, family heirlooms and modern antiques. We are a sentimental pair when it comes to certain items of jewellery that we wear, because they were mum's or her mum's. For us, what they mean and where they're from makes us want to wear them more. They are everyday pieces of jewellery that look good and are special.

SISTERHOOD

Finally, you may notice all our pieces have names. This part seemed like a natural progression for us, to name the jewellery we love making after some of the special women in our lives. First and foremost it's a nod to all the amazing women out there and what they achieve everyday. It's all about sisterhood!

This is a selection from our collection, we are always adding to it so please see our website for our current prices.

Thanks for taking the time to read our lookbook - any question please let us know, we would love to hear from you.
