Before scheduling any communications:

- Position the clock in the field of vision of your loved one.

- Leave the clock in sight for 3-5 days without using the communication features so your loved one can get used to it.
- Test the first displays of communications in the presence of your loved one, and choose together the ringing tone and the volume.
- Send kind and loving words first, your loved one will be motivated to look at the clock more often!

Scan the QR code for more use recommendations.
