Our Mission

Welcome to Yo-Yo OFFICE® and our wellness inspired range of active office furniture solutions. At the age of 17, I lost my father to a coronary heart attack, a loss which has driven me through adulthood to be a force for positive health.

From the outset in 2014 our focus is to encourage “more movement and activity” within a workplace to reduce the health risks associated with prolonged sitting. Growing scientific evidence informs us constantly that the #sitless #movemore mantra is essential to adopt if a company wishes to improve productivity and mental / physical wellness of their office workers.

With support from Public Health England, I commissioned the first global public health Expert Guidelines Statement on standing & light activity for office workers. These guidelines were published by the British Journal for Sports Medicine in June 2015 and serve as a benchmark for many international research projects. The Expert Guidelines Statement for the first time recommends we convert TWO hours of sitting time to standing or light activity (during working hours) in order to reduce the risks of prolonged sitting. I also spearhead thought leadership and advocacy on the health benefits of sitting less and moving more in the office workplace.

In 2014 I launched Get Britain Standing® a campaign responsible for dramatic growth in awareness of the mental and physical health risks connected with prolonged sedentary working of office workers.

Yo-Yo OFFICE® was established to bring to market high quality standing desk solutions at prices affordable to everyone. Within 9 years Yo-Yo DESK® has become the best-selling UK brand in its category and is now selling across Europe.

In 2022 we launched Yo-Yo POD® a unique acoustic booth range which focuses on being #mobile, #modular and #multifunctional. Yo-Yo POD® is ideal for agile work spaces which need ad hoc meeting space, acoustic privacy and inclusive to team members on the move. We are delighted to see workspaces benefit from being more adaptable and flexible.

We look forward to keeping you moving with both Yo-Yo DESK® and Yo-Yo POD®

Benefits of Active

Office workers spend an average 10 hours each day sitting; 70% of this sedentary time takes place at the office.

Prolonged and excessive sitting results in increased risks of:

- Heart disease
- Diabetes
- Obesity
- Cancer
- Back ache

To improve mental and physical health it is essential to SWITCH between SITTING and STANDING positions every 30 mins to activate internal organs and boost circulation of blood and oxygen.

The Basics

Posture and Positioning

- Regular transitioning between sitting and standing
- Shoulders straight keeping correct posture
- Movement reduces risk of muscle fatigue (and pain)

Head Position

- Neck straight, 50-70cm away from screen

Wrist Position

- Wrists at elbow height or slightly below
- Elbows at right angles

How Movement Improves Your Health

1. Mental Health

Regular hourly movement activates key muscles groups, circulating blood, boosting oxygen flow and keeps internal organs active.

2. Physical Health

Every part of your body benefits from regular movement (including standing) including your brain, shoulders, back, core muscles, glutes and feet.

3. Productivity

It's simple – introducing minor movement changes into your daily routine will increase your mobility and boost your wellness.

Take frequent 'mini breaks' as opportunities to move up/down or away from your desk to help:

Activate your body

Increase your metabolic rate

Break down fats

Reduce blood sugar levels

Boost oxygen flow to your brain

In January 2015, Public Health England and Active Working C.I.C jointly commissioned an Expert Statement* on the impact of prolonged sitting in the office.

The primary recommendation was that desk-based workers should spend 2-4 hours of their office day in a standing position, to enjoy multiple health benefits.

On Your Feet Britain® is a FREE and FUN way to reboot and energize your workplace habits and is also a great team activity. This year we're looking

Sustainable Fabrics

Whilst we can use any fabric when building your Yo-Yo POD®, we prefer to focus on those which have a genuine sustainability story.

We source most of our fabrics from Camira, a British company that produces fabrics globally. We hold stock of X2, Quest and Oceanic sustainable fabrics made from post-consumer plastic and natural fibres.

Key Benefits

✓ Environmental Sustainability

By using post-consumer plastic waste, Camira is reducing the amount of plastic waste that ends up in landfills and oceans. This helps to conserve natural resources and reduce greenhouse gas emissions.

✓ Durability

Can withstand wear and tear and are less likely to need replacing. This reduces the amount of waste generated from discarded fabrics.

✓ Aesthetics

Available in a variety of colours and textures, allowing for customization and versatility in design.

✓ Performance

Stain resistance, flame retardancy, and easy cleaning.

✓ Health and Safety

Produced using non-toxic materials and processes, making them safer for people and the environment.
