

This newsletter arrives as the summer ends. It's not at all a bad thing when kids go back to school; at least you are young enough to have kids still in school. Also it means college football is about to be upon us – the most wonderful time of the year.

Please note we have begun carrying Progeral Clamps. These have been in the US for several years and have been successfully used in some major beverage accounts. We will carry more if there proves to be an interest. They are a penny less than Oetiker, so you decide.

This is our eighth newsletter and you may have missed some. Please note they are all on our website if you are still interested – www.fitandcp.com.

The best show for the beverage industry is BrauBeviale in Nuremberg Germany, November 11th through the 13th. We will have our usual presence there this year in stand 9-508, so please come by and say hello.

"Given enough time and money, your competitors can duplicate almost everything you've got working for you. They can hire away some of your best people. They can reverse-engineer your processes. The only thing they can't duplicate is your culture." – Herb Kelleher, former CEO of Southwest Airlines
