Honoring connection with each other and the natural world.

All images available as both greeting cards and art prints.*

Greeting Cards: $2.50 ea. (RRP $5.00) All cards are blank inside. Size A7 (5"x7") with kraft paper envelope. Order in multiples of 6.

Can be sleeved in corn-based bio-plastic sleeve for an additional $0.50/6 cards.

Art Prints: $5 ea. (RRP $10) Size 8"x10" All art prints come with a chipboard backing to prevent bending and are individually packaged in a corn-based bio-plastic sleeve.

Happy New Year!
I hope you enjoy the many critters and kiddos in the two new collections I am releasing in this winter catalog. I was inspired by the way animals and children navigate the world with more grace and ease than many of us adult humans. May we remember to look to them for guidance now and then. Thank you for your continued support!

A word about my mission...

Found & Rewound's mission is to inspire us to honor our connection to each other and the natural world.

In keeping with this mission, I work hard to minimize the impact my business has on the environment. In addition to making my artwork with repurposed paper, all of my products are printed on 100% post-consumer recycled paper.

I am committed to eliminating plastic from my operation anywhere I can. And now when you support Found & Rewound, a portion of all sales goes to offset CO2 emissions through Project Wren.

If you would prefer to have your greeting cards sleeved, let me know and I will be happy to accommodate using corn-based bio-plastic sleeves for an added $0.50/6 cards.

Thank you for your support!

Jordan Kim's art is often described as "painting with paper." She uses re-purposed paper (junk mail, magazines, packaging, etc.) to create intricate collages. She often tucks hidden messages into her artwork, inspiring us to honor our connection with each other and the natural world.

All products are printed on 100% post-consumer recycled paper and made near her home of Parkdale, Oregon.
