

NEUSIEDLERSEE, AUSTRIA

ALLACHER

Allacher Vinum Pannonia is a small family winery that has been successfully producing wines in the town of Gols in Burgenland for generations. The Allacher Family champions combining the knowledge and winemaking traditions of the past with the latest findings in modern viticulture to craft wines that tell the story of their region and time.

Their 40 hectares of vineyards are located in the Neusiedlersee region, which include the esteemed Altenberg and Salzberg vineyards. The vines thrive in the distinctive climate and terroir of the Pannonian region, enabling the cultivation of both indigenous and international grape varieties.

The Allacher family takes a sustainable approach to viticulture, showing respect for nature, quality, and tradition. They take special care of their grapes both in the vineyards and in the winery, allowing the wines varietal characteristics to shine.
