At Select English we've been welcoming groups to Cambridge for over a quarter of a century.

Our tailor made group courses are available throughout the year, and courses can be as long or short as required. There is no minimum or maximum size for a group course – large and small groups are all equally welcome at Select English.

Cambridge is a remarkable and inspiring city to visit, a centre of education renowned around the world and home to one of Europe's oldest universities. Cambridge is also a small and peaceful city - making it the perfect choice for a safe and comfortable stay for any group.

If you are interested in creating a programme for your group, an experienced Select English team member will work closely with you to design a course that meets the precise needs and aspirations of your group - both in the classroom and beyond it.

Our English teachers are experienced in teaching short course group classes; classes are fun and practical with a focus on speaking and understanding in real life situations. We also specialize in exam preparation courses for IELTS, Cambridge exams and Trinity exams.

The expertise of our academic teachers and the superb facilities on our campus allow us to offer programmes combining English classes with lessons and practical sessions focusing on areas such as art, science and business. We also offer practical programmes that give students valuable insights into aspects of modern life in the UK – for instance programmes illustrating pathways into the British higher education system, or insights into finding work and current workplace practice. These courses are especially popular with school groups that wish to create a course based around the requirements of their syllabus at home.

We offer a comprehensive range of accommodation options for groups. Many choose to stay in our carefully selected and monitored host family accommodation; we also have well-established connections with several Cambridge University colleges, so that at certain times of the year groups can choose to stay in the world famous university. Finally, there are a range of hotels and hostels close to our school which are ideal for groups looking for budget residential accommodation.

Cambridge offers a wide range of exciting and interesting activities for groups to enjoy whilst they are not in the classroom. Whether visiting a world famous college, touring a great museum or punting gently down the River Cam that flows through the centre of the city, there is never a dull moment here! And nearby towns and villages such as Ely, Bury St Edmunds and Grantchester make for wonderful afternoon excursions – while London is only 50 minutes away by train.

Cambridge is located about 30 minutes' drive from Stansted airport, making it easy for groups from all over Europe to get here.

We encourage the children on our summer courses to feel positive and confident about learning English, so that they will return home motivated to continue with their language studies.

Our summer courses for adults focus on real language use. We use a wide variety of materials including newspapers, TV and radio programmes and the internet. Lessons include pair work and group discussions, pronunciation practice and help with grammar problems, as well as individual guidance from qualified English language teachers. We encourage students to use English as much as possible during their course, both inside and outside the classroom.

STUDENT WELFARE

“The needs of students for security and pastoral care are well met. The provision (of accommodation) is managed very efficiently and to the benefit of students by the accommodation staff”

British Council Inspection Report 2017

Student welfare is our number one priority on all our summer courses. Classes are small (no more than 12 students per class) and all activities are supervised, with staff ratios of 1:15 on the Young Learner courses and 1:20 on the Teens and Young Adults (aged under 18) courses.

Each course has first-aid trained staff on site.

All students studying at Select English will have access to a medical centre. We can also help students to access other medical services they may need. These include dentists and orthodontists, optometrists, and counselling services (these may have extra charges).

We carefully select and check our host families before they can host for Select English.

Our hosts are regularly visited by the Accommodation Officer. We also monitor homestays through student feedback.

All of our halls of residences have live-in managers who care for our students.

All house managers are DBS checked and have first aid and fire training.

All of the residences are within walking distance of the school.

Select English is committed to safeguarding and promoting the welfare of children. Please view our Safeguarding Policy and our Care of Under 18s Statement at www.selectenglish.co.uk
