WATCHES THAT STAND THE TEST OF TIME

Four beautifully designed timepieces for the new year. ▼

1 Fonderie 47 Inversion Principle Tourbillon Watch in Red Gold

To combat gun violence, this timepiece is made with material from melted-down AK-47 assault rifles from Africa. Only 20 are available. It features a three-minute flying tourbillon, a crown pusher quick-set hour adjustment and six-day power reserve.

Price: $195,000

2 Parmigiani Fleurier Tonda Hémisphères

Parmigiani Fleurier was founded in 1996 by Michel Parmigiani in the Swiss village of Fleurier. This watch's two prominent counters, highlighted by luminescent material, form a figure eight—evoking the symbol of infinity.

Price: $19,800

3 Patek Philippe Grandmaster Chime

To celebrate its 175th anniversary, Patek Philippe introduced several extraordinary watches. The highlight: the Grandmaster Chime, the brand's most complicated wristwatch ever. Seven years in development, the timepiece showcases a reversible case holding 20 complications.

Price: $2.6 million

4 Bell & Ross WWI Régulateur in Pink Gold

Bell & Ross designs watches with aesthetic roots in pilots' vintage timepieces. One of the best examples is the elegant WWI Régulateur in pink gold, which has an opaline pearled dial, blue-steel hands and a self-winding mechanical movement.

Price: $22,000
