SUSTAINABLE BUILDING SOLUTIONS

Nearly 15% of global greenhouse gas emissions and about 30% of landfill waste are due to commercial and residential construction and the materials required for these industries. To solve this problem, we established Belter Tech; a team of builders, engineers, and manufacturers with a mission to develop sustainable, high-performing products for the construction industry from post-industrial and post-consumer waste.

We believe in creating products that will fundamentally change the way we build and live in our spaces. Not only are our products made from up to 100% recycled content, but they also offer superior insulating, fire-resistant, acoustic, and mold resistant properties for your next project. Above all, the use of Belter Tech products contributes to gaining LEED, WELL, ENV SP, and Passive House credits for your project.

Spartan Wall Systems offer the fastest, cleanest temporary walls, partitions, and barriers. We make good-looking, lightweight, functional walls that are easy to manoeuvre but strong enough to contain any construction project. Spartan Wall Systems give your project a clean finish and a protective sound barrier, so business can continue undisturbed on one side of the wall while heavy-duty renovations take place on the other.

Spartan wall systems lessens the environmental impact that many construction projects carry. The reusable walls dramatically reduce waste produced on construction sites and, in particular, by limiting the use of drywall. Nearly three-quarters of all drywall eventually makes its way to landfills and, once disposed of, as it decomposes the waste has a significant negative impact on the environment.
