Fort's A/W 2016 palette was inspired by the natural jewel tones in the Arctic Tundra during the Fall season.

The vastness of the Tundra is home to many micro marvels in a state of constant change, with many creatures calling it home.

In every collection Fort collaborates with a different artist and creates a print reflecting the themes and inspirations of the season. A/W 16 showcases the work of Andrew Pommier.

Andrew focuses on various Arctic birds bringing attention to their perseverance in continuing to adapt to the ever-changing elements in their environment.
