Volume 4 | Issue III | September 2020

The number of submissions for the past few months was small, and all manuscripts submitted for consideration for publication in this issue have been rated unsuitable or outside the scope of the journal. The Editor-in-Chief and the editorial staff regret to announce that this issue is without content.

The Schola follows a policy of rejecting any manuscript that will require major revisions. Common reasons for the rejections are:

- Mismatch with the journal
- Poor Writing and Organization
- Inadequate preparation of the manuscript

Before sending the manuscript, it is the author's duty to understand the scope of the journal and ensure the manuscript fulfills its requirements. We strongly recommend that prospective authors carefully review the Essay Guidelines and complete the 4-stage submission process for formal assessment.

We thank all those who submitted their manuscripts.
