25 Year Product Guarantee

Hailiang Copper Australia Pty Ltd ensures that AS1432, AS1571 & NZ3501 copper tubes supplied are in compliance with the standards and provides a 25 year guarantee for its products against the guarantee. The guarantee is provided by Hailiang Copper Australia Pty Ltd to cover manufacturing or material product defects. The products must be installed correctly in accordance with specified practice and applications with the correct associated materials.

The guarantee does not cover normal wear and tear.

The product guarantee only covers applications for which it has been manufactured, therefore does not cover those installations outside of domestic and commercial, and must be correctly selected for the intended application.

The product guarantee is invalid if the product is not correctly installed.

Abuse, misuse or neglect will negate the guarantee. Corrosion due to chemical composition of the water carried in the application or aggressive external environment will not be covered by the guarantee.

The guarantee liability is to the replacement of the item and does not include installation or consequential damages. This guarantee does not affect any statutory consumer rights.
