Jesus' words are more than a mere call to evangelism. He commissioned His disciples to make disciples. It is thus the privilege and responsibility of every believer to know what it means to follow Christ, to follow Him—and to help others do the same.

The 28 lessons in this book provide a biblical framework for being and making disciples. They can be used for individual study, one-on-one discipleship, or in small groups.

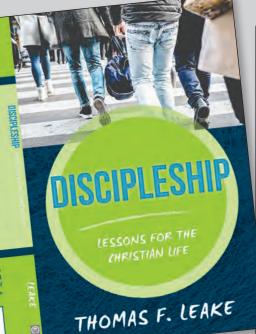

Each lesson contains a Bible verse or passage along with a brief explanation and exhortations toward application and obedience. Included are discussion questions, a suggested memory verse, key terms, and properties foundational and suggestions for additional study.
