CASE STUDY

APTIMIZED

With an increase in the distribution of digital content online, the concern for unauthorized download methods rises.

Aptimized recognizes the severity of this issue, which is why we developed an innovative digital process creating a unique watermarking solution for audio files.

We embed digital identifiers into audio files to provide precise identification in the event of a leak. Doing so will identify the original downloader to enable further action to ensure the file is taken down.

The team at Aptimized has developed this unique process by undergoing rigorous testing for consistency, quality, and accuracy. All of this is done without jeopardizing the quality of the music.
