If the fabric is approved, and the directional orientation (directional rightway, directional railroad, or non-directional) of the tested fabric has been confirmed, then refer to the appropriate column in the chart for yardage requirements.

Steps to follow to calculate fabric usage:

- 1) Identify product type and size.
- 2) Determine method in which fabric is to be cut (directional rightway, directional railroad or non-directional).
- 3) Determine fabric roll width.
- 4) Find corresponding fabric usage value from the table.
- 5) Calculate fabric required using the formula below:

$$\text{Fabric usage} = \text{number of units} \times \text{number of sides with fabric} \times \text{fabric usage from tables.}$$
- 6) Repeat steps 1-5 for each product type, size and fabric.
- 7) Add all values together to find total number of linear yards required for the order. Add the appropriate percentage shown below to the total yardage to accommodate fabric flaws, wrinkles and other imperfections.

Up to 500 yards Add 10%

501 to 1000 yards Add 5%

More than 1000 yards Add 3%

Freight Claims

The merchandise is carefully packaged and thoroughly inspected before leaving the warehouse. The carrier assumes responsibility for its safe delivery upon acceptance of the shipment. Claims for loss or damage sustained in transit must, therefore, be made as follows:

1. Concealed loss or damage

Concealed loss or damage means loss or damage that does not become apparent until the merchandise has been unpacked. The contents may be damaged in transit due to rough handling even though the carton may not show external damage. When damage is discovered upon unpacking, contact a Rework representative within 48 hours. When applicable, submission of photographs will be requested. Your Rework representative will work with you to process the claim as well as replace any product deemed damaged in transit.

Damage does not constitute grounds for a return. Replacement parts are readily available, and Rework reserves the right to attempt correction of the damage while retaining the product in the field.

2. Visible Damage or Shortage

Any external evidence of damage or shortage must be noted on the freight bill of lading or delivery receipt. Failure to adequately describe such external evidence of damage or shortage may result in the carrier refusing to honor a damage claim. If there is obvious shipping damage, you may refuse the product and request that the freight carrier returns the damaged product to Rework. Contact a Rework representative immediately upon receipt of damaged product or shortage.
