

S/S19 Jewelry Trend Forecast

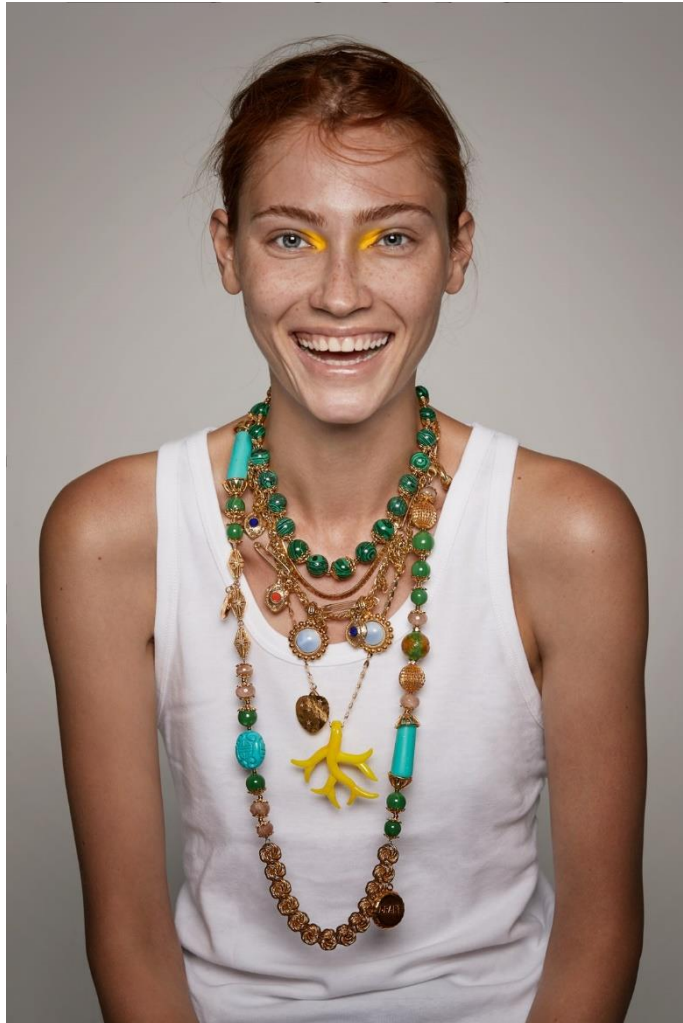

K A T E R I N A
P S O M A

1. Big Earrings: call them statement, “it piece” or however you like. Big earrings took social media by storm last season and will continue to reign next summer. KP harmoniously combines volume, high quality materials with light weight. Trends come and go but the brand’s reference to impressive earpieces transcend any ephemeral craze.

Gold plated earrings with crystals and faceted cat's eye
Leaf earrings with resin flower and faceted cat's eye.

2. Chain Necklaces: shiny vintage treasures are masterfully transformed into edgy modern necklaces. Influenced by counterculture, hip hop music and 70's glamor, the jewelry carries a feeling of decadent luxury.

Long chain with various charms

3. Charm Bracelets: cuff or vintage chain bracelets carry various trinkets, old and new (such as bunny headbands and headphones), semiprecious stones and coins. Stack many on both hands and combine them with matching earrings. They become your favorite arm candies.

Various charm bracelets

4. Nostalgia. An idealized reference to the past is the mega trend of the season. With the use of vintage materials, the incorporation of soft colors, opulent stones and intricate metal elements, the designer takes us to a utopic place.

Carved resin hoops

Necklace with vintage turtles

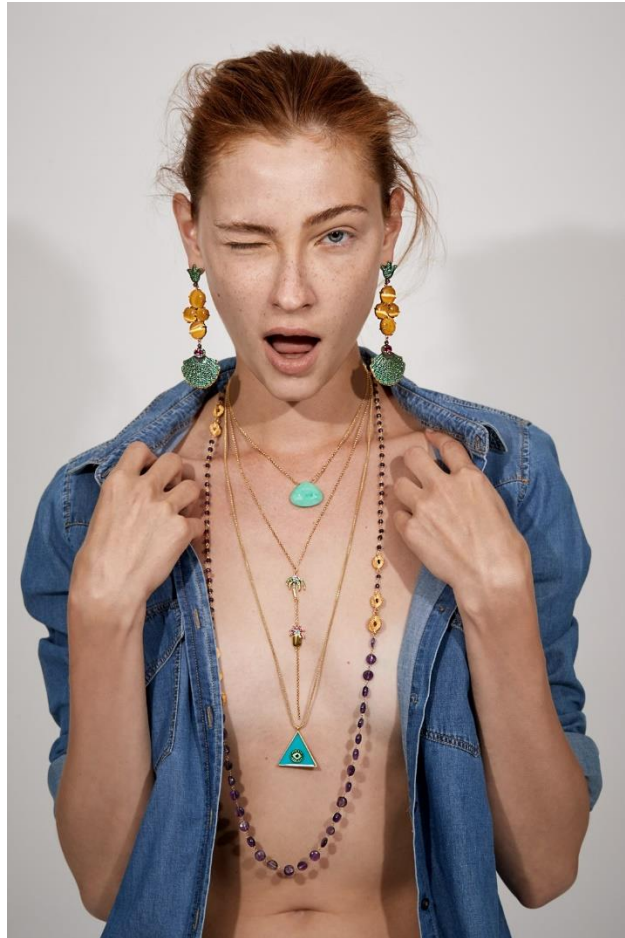

Short necklace with turquoise and beads

5. Feathers: One of our classics, feather jewelry shifts to more spectacular, soft colored pieces. Pale ostrich feathers and goose feathers adorned with gold paint set the trend for S/S19.

Feathers earrings

6. Multi Layered Fine Jewelry: an ideal mix and match of various semiprecious chains, enamel evil eyes and iconic charms will update a casual look. Perfect for gifts, these fine, affordable pieces of jewelry are contemporary classics.

Various gold plated 925 silver necklaces with stones and earrings

7. Linear Collars: made of eclectic materials, such as colored resin set in wooden frames or handmade glass from Murano, Venice, these short necklaces give a splash of color with their elegant yet contemporary style.

Short necklace with acrylic, resin, Murano glass