

BUSINESS GIFTING
focused on client acquisition, celebrating accomplishments
& happy employees

It's important to give gifts to clients and employees as a way of showing appreciation and building stronger relationships. Gifts can be used to recognize a job well done, celebrate a milestone, or simply express gratitude.

Not only does gifting show that you value and care for your clients and employees, it also helps to build trust and foster loyalty.

Additionally, receiving a thoughtful gift can boost morale and increase motivation, leading to better performance and a more positive work environment.

We are pleased to offer a variety of gifts to make it easy to gift your clients and employees. We make it as easy as possible – simply visit our website, choose your gift, upload your message and we'll handle the rest.

Meeting Gifting

Sending a gift before a meeting can be effective because it:

- helps establish a positive relationship with the recipient and creates a sense of goodwill
- demonstrates thoughtfulness and professionalism, which can set a positive tone before the meeting
- breaks the ice and makes the recipient more receptive

Welcome New Hires with a Thoughtful Gift

Make your new team members feel appreciated and valued by giving them a welcoming gift. Whether it's shipped to their home or waiting on their desk, it's a great way to make them feel special.

To make an even bigger impact, consider sending a gift along with their offer letter to really impress potential employees.

Expressing Gratitude with Our Best-Selling Thank-You Gifts

Thank-you gifts are our top-selling items, available in both small and large sizes and for a variety of occasions. Show your appreciation with our range of gratitude gifts.

Congratulatory Gifting

Congratulate and acknowledge a job well done in closing a deal or completing a project is always the right thing to do. Here's why:

- It shows appreciation: Congratulating someone is a way of showing that you appreciate the hard work and effort they have put in to achieve a goal or milestone.
- It boosts morale: Congratulating someone can boost their morale and make them feel valued, which can lead to increased productivity and job satisfaction.
- It promotes a positive work culture: A positive work culture is one where employees feel supported and appreciated, and congratulating them can help foster this type of culture.
- It strengthens relationships: Congratulating customers on their achievements can help build a stronger relationship with them, which can lead to increased loyalty and repeat business.

Remote Employee Inclusion

We have individual gifts and programs to ensure your remote employees feel a part of the team. From weekly breakroom boxes to virtual happy hours, we offer a wide variety of options to meet your needs. This helps to:

- Boost morale and motivation: Acknowledging employees who work from home shows that their hard work is appreciated and recognized. This can boost their morale and motivation, leading to increased productivity and job satisfaction.
- Foster a sense of belonging: Working from home can sometimes make employees feel isolated and disconnected from their team. Acknowledging their contributions can help them feel valued and included, fostering a sense of belonging and improving teamwork.
- Help retain top talent: Recognizing and acknowledging the efforts of employees who work from home can help retain top talent. Feeling appreciated and valued can make employees more loyal and committed to their employer.

Motivation and Support

Acknowledging clients and employees during a difficult time is important for several reasons. It shows that you care about their well-being, fosters a sense of empathy and support, and can ultimately strengthen relationships. Additionally, acknowledging someone's struggles can help them feel seen and heard, which can be incredibly validating and reassuring during times of stress or hardship.

Get Well & Recovery

It's important for companies to acknowledge their employees and clients during illness to show that they care about their well-being and to maintain positive relationships. This can help to boost morale, increase loyalty, and foster a sense of community within the company. Additionally, acknowledging the impact of sickness can help to create a more supportive and inclusive workplace culture.
