

Erase a Rhyme

By Heidi Butkus

Draw a picture on a white board or chalk board, and then tell a rhyming phrase. A child comes up and erases the part of the picture that rhymes with that part.

The Bat

Give a cheer! Erase one _____. (ear)

If you like to sing, erase one _____. (wing)

You can try; erase the _____. (eye)

Telephones ring; erase another _____. (wing.)

If you can't stay put, erase a _____. (foot)

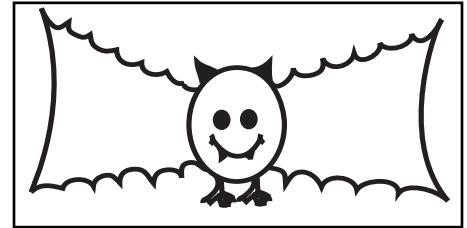

Have no fear! Erase another _____. (ear)

My, oh, my! Erase another _____. (eye)

Stay awhile! Erase the _____. (smile)

A chimney is covered in ashes and soot. Now you get to erase a _____. (foot)

There's nothing left; the bat is dead. To finish him off, erase the _____! (head.)

The Ant (AKA Parts of an Insect)

Please don't beg! Erase one _____. (leg)

I found a penny! Erase the _____. (antennae)

Her name is Megan, but we call her Meg.

Go ahead, erase the _____! (leg)

Birds can fly. Erase the _____. (eye)

Eat your eggs! Erase two _____. (legs)

Time for bed! Erase the _____. (head)

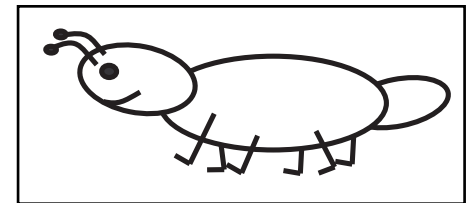

*Don't be naughty! Erase the _____. (body)

*Check the mail! Erase the _____. (tail)

Or, if you want to be more scientifically correct, replace the last two with:*

*I clean with Borax! Erase the _____. (thorax)

*The police will always nab "da" men. Erase the _____. (abdomen)

The Numbers 0-10

0 1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9 10

Here we go again! Erase the _____. (ten)

Don't be late! Erase the _____. (eight)

Do some tricks! Erase the _____. (six)

Want some more? Erase the _____. (four)

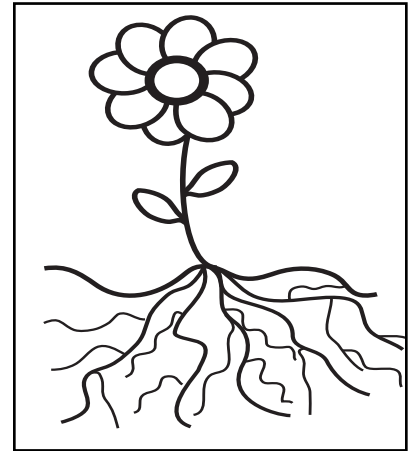

If you like blue, erase the _____. (two)

You're my hero! Erase the _____. (zero)

Feelin' fine? Erase the _____. (nine)
Fly to heaven. Erase the _____. (seven)
If you're alive, erase the _____. (five)
Fiddle dee dee! Erase the _____. (three)
Now we're done! Erase the _____. (one)

The Flower (AKA: Parts of a Plant)

This one has a few nonsense rhymes in it, since there are not a lot of words that rhyme with petal! You may want to make up your own nonsense rhymes to fit the amount of petals and roots that you draw on your flower.

Good grief! Erase a _____! (leaf)

Aluminum is a type of metal.

Now you get to erase a _____. (petal)

A gun can shoot. Erase a _____. (root)

Do you hear the whistling kettle? Please erase another _____. (petal)

Santa wears a bright red suit. Please erase another _____. (root)

Be a gem. Erase the _____. (stem)

Do not touch the stinging nettle! Please erase another _____. (petal)

Play the flute. Erase a _____. (root)

Hansel and Gretl. Erase another _____. (petal)

Strawberries are my favorite fruit. Please erase another _____. (root)

The teacher's name is Mrs. Zettle. Please erase another _____. (petal)

Little puppies are kind of cute! Please erase another _____. (root)

It's time sit and time to settle. Please erase another _____. (petal)

The man in charge is called the chief. Please erase another _____. (leaf)

*Hey, diddle diddle! Erase the flower's _____. (middle)

It wouldn't hurt to erase the _____. (dirt)

We're all done now. Put on your boots! The last person gets to erase the remaining _____. (roots)

If you would like to use the scientific word for the middle of the flower, use this rhyme instead of the starred one above:*

A Native American priest is called a Shaman.*

Now you get to erase the _____. (stamen)