Chocky—is anything but ordinary. Wyndham’s last novel takes on the enigma of a child’s mind. It’s not unusual for a child to have an imaginary friend, named Chocky. —Time Out New York

Welcome to Moderan, world of the future. The earth is coated by a vast sheet of plastic and humans, not to be outdone, vie to replace more and more of their flesh with bits of steel machinery in this cult classic of science fiction.

In this alternate history, it is 1976 but the modern world is a medieval relic. Ten-year-old Hubert Anvil’s extraordinary voice is an asset but he is under pressure to receive a certain operation.

Amis’s old devils have a routine of nattering, complaining, and drinking, which is thrown into chaos when an old friend and rival (now a successful writer) returns to town.

In this satire of Anglo-American relations, Amis sets Roger Micheldene loose on a campus in America, where the gluttonous, boozy Englishman decides to offend all and win the girl of his fancy.

A grotesque and memorable dance of death, full of bickering, bitching, backstabbing, and drinking. It is a book about dying people and about a dying England.

In this anatomy of the flower-power phase of the 1960s, a young music critic is enlisted by the wife of an eminent conductor to keep an eye on her husband as he embarks on yet another affair.

Amis introduces one of the rare unqualified good characters in the author’s rogue-ridden world: Jenny Bunn, a girl from the North English country who moves south with hopes of love and fortune.

This novel takes on the enigma of a child’s mind. It’s not unusual for a child to have an imaginary friend, named Chocky—anything but ordinary. Wyndham’s last novel takes on the enigma of a child’s mind.

Chinese, the very language of civilization: the hangman.

A Swiftian tribute to that unappreciated mainstay of history, the hangman.

The hangman is a symbol of the rule of law and a reminder of the power of the state. It is also a symbol of the human condition, reminding us of our mortality and our impermanence.

Jon Day

CYCLOGEOGRAPHY: JOURNEYS OF A LONDON BICYCLE COURIER

The author rounds up the most memorable walker—hikers to urban strollers, from the rationalists to the writers from the 1700’s to the modern day, from country to city. In this exquisitely written “notebook,” which blends memoir, biography, and essay, Gunn records a winter spent in her hometown of Wellington, New Zealand—where Katherine Mansfield grew up—and the unparalleled insight it allowed her into Mansfield’s fiction.

978-1-91074-904-3 • HC • $18.95

Kirsty Gunn

MY KATHERINE MANSFIELD PROJECT

In this volume, in which the new dust jacket is described as “the most important piece of writing on architecture of the 21st Century,” describes the bleak and featureless world of capitalism. This volume pairs it with Junkspace, which seeks to find a space within the junk in which the individual might still exist.

978-1-90790-376-2 • HC • $18.95

Rem Koolhaas & Hal Foster

JUNK SPACE WITH RUNNING ROOM

Susan Greenfield takes us on a journey in search of the self in some way or other. Surprising, delightful, and entertaining, Essays on the Self presents Woolf’s ideas of writing and the world.

978-1-90790-334-2 • HC • $18.95

Virginia Woolf

ESSAYS ON THE SELF

Spanning twenty-one years of Virginia Woolf’s life, these essays all revolve around the idea of the self in some way or other. Surprising, delightful, and entertaining, Essays on the Self presents Woolf’s ideas of writing and the world.

Publication: April 2019

CONFESSIONS OF A HERETIC: SELECTED ESSAYS

Roger Scruton

“Roger Scruton is that rarest of things: a first-rate philosopher who actually has a philosophy...one of the few intellectually authoritative voices in modern British conservatism.” —Jesse Norman, The Spectator

978-1-91074-912-8 • HC • $18.95

William Morris in Iceland

“William Morris’s account of his journey through Iceland is touching, quick, vivid, often very funny, while Lavinia Greenlaw’s spare commentary acts as a kind of brilliant x-ray into the deep structures of travel itself. Combined, they form a work of strange and rare enchantment.” —James Lasdun

978-1-90790-318-2 • HC • $18.95

Lavinia Greenlaw

QUESTIONS OF TRAVEL: WILLIAM MORRIS IN ICELAND

The few intellectually authoritative voices in modern British conservatism. This delightful anthology—described in Gyles Brandreth’s introduction as “a plum pudding stuffed with good things”—offers an array of writers, both old and new, who have expressed their thoughts about Christmas with joy, nostalgia, grumpiness, and wit.

978-1-91074-968-5 • HC • $18.95

ON CHRISTMAS: A SEASONAL ANTHOLOGY

Compiled from his lecture tours, newspaper articles, essays and epigrams, these pieces show that beneath the trademark wit, Wilde was a deeply humane and visionary writer, as challenging today as he was in the late 1800s.

978-1-91074-906-7 • HC • $18.95

BEAUTIFUL AND IMPOSSIBLE THINGS: SELECTED ESSAYS OF OSCAR WILDE

Oscar Wilde • Introduction by Gyles Brandreth

Clarence Brown, and Robert Hughes

Osip Mandelstam visited Armenia in 1930, and during the eight months of his stay, he rediscovered his poetic voice and was inspired to write an experimental meditation on the country and its ancient culture.

978-1-90790-347-2 • HC • $18.95

Osip Mandelstam • Introduction by Henry Gifford

JOURNEY TO ARMENIA

Introduction by Sydney Monas, Clarence Brown, and Robert Hughes

Osip Mandelstam visited Armenia in 1930, and during the eight months of his stay, he rediscovered his poetic voice and was inspired to write an experimental meditation on the country and its ancient culture.

The NYRB Classics series is dedicated to publishing an eclectic mix of fiction and non-fiction from different eras and times and of various sorts. The series includes nineteenth century novels and experimental novels, reportage and belles lettres, tell-all memoirs and learned studies, established classics and cult favorites, new translations, literature high, low, unsuspected, and unheard of. NYRB Classics are, to a large degree, discoveries, the kind of books that people typically run into outside of the classroom and then remember for life.

Each year we offer books in this highly praised series, which was recently featured in The New York Times, to members of our subscription book club. Book club memberships are $150.* NYRB editors select one book each month and we send the selection, postage-free, to each recipient.

With each subscription, we will send you a FREE book.
