

A photograph of two men in athletic wear stretching on a gravel path. The man on the left is wearing a black long-sleeved shirt with a white Nike swoosh and black shorts, kneeling and holding his right knee with both hands. The man on the right is wearing a colorful geometric-patterned jacket with 'adidas' on the chest and black leggings, also kneeling and holding his right knee. They are both wearing running shoes. The background shows a gravel path, some trees, and a building under an overcast sky.

As an affiliate, what do I need to be aware of?

Your recommendation should be labelled as an advertisement or similar.

It must be evident to the customer that you are earning a commission. According to the legal regulations, this counts as an advertisement which should be disclosed. A brief disclaimer is sufficient, e.g. „I use affiliate links on this page and receive a small commission that will support my business.“

If the link is embedded on the website, search engines such as Google or Bing require it to be set to "no follow".

They also view an affiliate link as advertising and would like to see it labelled accordingly. Depending on the content management system, this may also be called a "sponsored link" or similar.

FAQ

Where do I place the affiliate link / coupon code?

The affiliate link is ideal for digital advertising, such as a newsletter, on your own website, in articles in online magazines, blogs, etc. – wherever you can click on links.

The coupon code is ideal for sharing by word or on print advertisements such as handouts for your course participants. On request, you can receive free coupon cards with your code from us.

When is the payout?

- For bank transfer and PayPal, you will be paid quarterly with a minimum amount of € 20,- collected commission.
- Shop credit will be transferred to you immediately after verification.
