“A SECLUDED AND EXCLUSIVE STAY IN THE HEART OF RURAL PERTSHIRE”

The Glenturret, Scotland’s Oldest Working Distillery, is delighted to introduce The Aberturret Estate House – a 19th century Dower house formerly owned by the Murray Clan who founded The Glenturret Distillery more than 260 years ago - which is now available as a private hideaway solely for exclusive use.

Hidden within the woodland area of The Hosh, and surrounded by elegant gardens overlooking the River Turret, the secluded location of the house ensures complete privacy during your stay.

Accommodating up to 12 guests, nestled in the picturesque heart of rural Perthshire, The Aberturret Estate House seamlessly blends the allure of country living with the refinement of a luxurious retreat.

Guests staying at Aberturret House also have preferential access (subject to availability), at The Glenturret Lalique Restaurant, a two Michelin-starred exquisite dining experience situated within The Glenturret Distillery, the first of its kind worldwide.

Whatever the occasion, our team can tailor a bespoke package of dining, entertainment, excursions or outdoor pursuits to ensure an unforgettable stay.

“A CELEBRATION OF SCOTTISH DESIGN, CRAFTSMANSHIP AND ARTISTRY.”

With traditional features such as moulded cornice combined seamlessly with modern design elements, state-of-the-art appliances and a collectic collection of vinyl music from Scottish Artists, the historic character of Aberturret House has been enhanced with contemporary interior design.

Inspired by the Highland landscape and the whisky heritage of The Glenturret Distillery, the rooms are decorated in muted tones, complete with soft furnishings crafted from Bute Fabric and historic Harris Tweeds, contemporary pottery from Scottish based potters Jono Smart, Hazel Frost & Ingot Objects, and custom furniture pieces.

The house also plays host to a collection of works by Scottish artists from across the last two centuries including Edward Arthur Walton, Joseph Farquharson And Sir Eduardo Paolozzi carefully curated in partnership with the Fine Art Society.

The Aberturret Estate House is a true celebration of Scottish design, craftsmanship and artistry, which will leave you with unforgettable memories of this hidden gem within Perthshire.

“LET A WARM EMBRACE WELCOME YOU.”

As you step into Aberturret, a warm embrace welcomes you with an open-hearth fireplace, a spacious lounge, formal dining room, and stylish cocktail bar, where guests can gather and enjoy the very best of Scottish hospitality.

Our luxury 6 bedrooms are all ensuite, with views overlooking the estate, and the ultimate place to relax.

At the heart of our open-plan, fully equipped kitchen is a traditional countryside Aga perfect for social entertainment and self-catering stays.

Guests can also enjoy an intimate dining event with a private chef who can craft a personalised culinary experience, tailored to the occasion and served in the comfort of the elegant dining room surroundings, seating up to 12 guests.

Private catering options are available upon request.

“A FINE DINING EXPERIENCE IN THE HEART OF SCOTLAND’S OLDEST WORKING DISTILLERY.”

The Glenturret Lique Restaurant which overlooks the old still houses and tumbling water of the River Turret, is just a short walk from The Aberturret Estate House.

With only seven tables, the two Michelin-starred restaurant offers guests a discerning, fine dining experience, in the heart of The Glenturret Distillery.

Taking inspiration from Scotland’s culinary landscape and native ingredients, Head Chef Mark Donald has created menus that capture the essence of The Glenturret Distillery, with discreet nods to the distillation process cleverly woven into his cuisine.

The restaurant is open Wednesday to Saturday for bar lunch 12pm - 2pm and evening tasting menu, from 6pm.

Restaurant reservations required, subject to availability.
