

CULT VISION

Amelia Graham X Cult Vision Collab:

The most recent installation at Cult Vision brings together a series of six bespoke giclée prints, designed by textile designer Amelia Graham in collaboration with Cult Vision for AW18.

This is the second collaboration between the two; Amelia Graham recently designed three unique, limited edition lens cloths in her signature geometric designs, launched at Cult Vision during the Clerkenwell Design Week Fringe Festival.

Amelia Graham's textile designs are playful takes on geometric and arithmetic form and draws on her interest in architecture - looking to Brutalism, and Modernism for formal elements, but also taking cues from the African Textiles of East London, and the playful use of colour and dynamic form prevalent in postmodernist art.

The 'LOVE ART' print by Amelia Graham is available on her website:

About Amelia Graham:

Textile Designer Amelia works cross-discipline in the fields of fashion, art, and interiors. Interest in her geometric and arithmetic work led to the launch of her eponymous line in 2014: free and measured rhythms, nods to brutalist architecture, African textiles and post-modernism, encapsulated in signature prints on fabric, art prints and scarves.
