3 point harness system Back Quiver

3 point harness system Back Quiver

In our representation we use the Back Quiver Dark (100039) in the right-hand version.

If you are wearing a RH Quiver because you are a right-handed archer, you must place the upper bar over your back on your right shoulder. Then you can hook the right strap (1) past your hip into the right eyelet (3). Do the same with the other side: hang the left strap (2) past your hip into the left eyelet (4). At the end you have your Quiver fixed by three different straps, hence the name, "3 point" strap system.

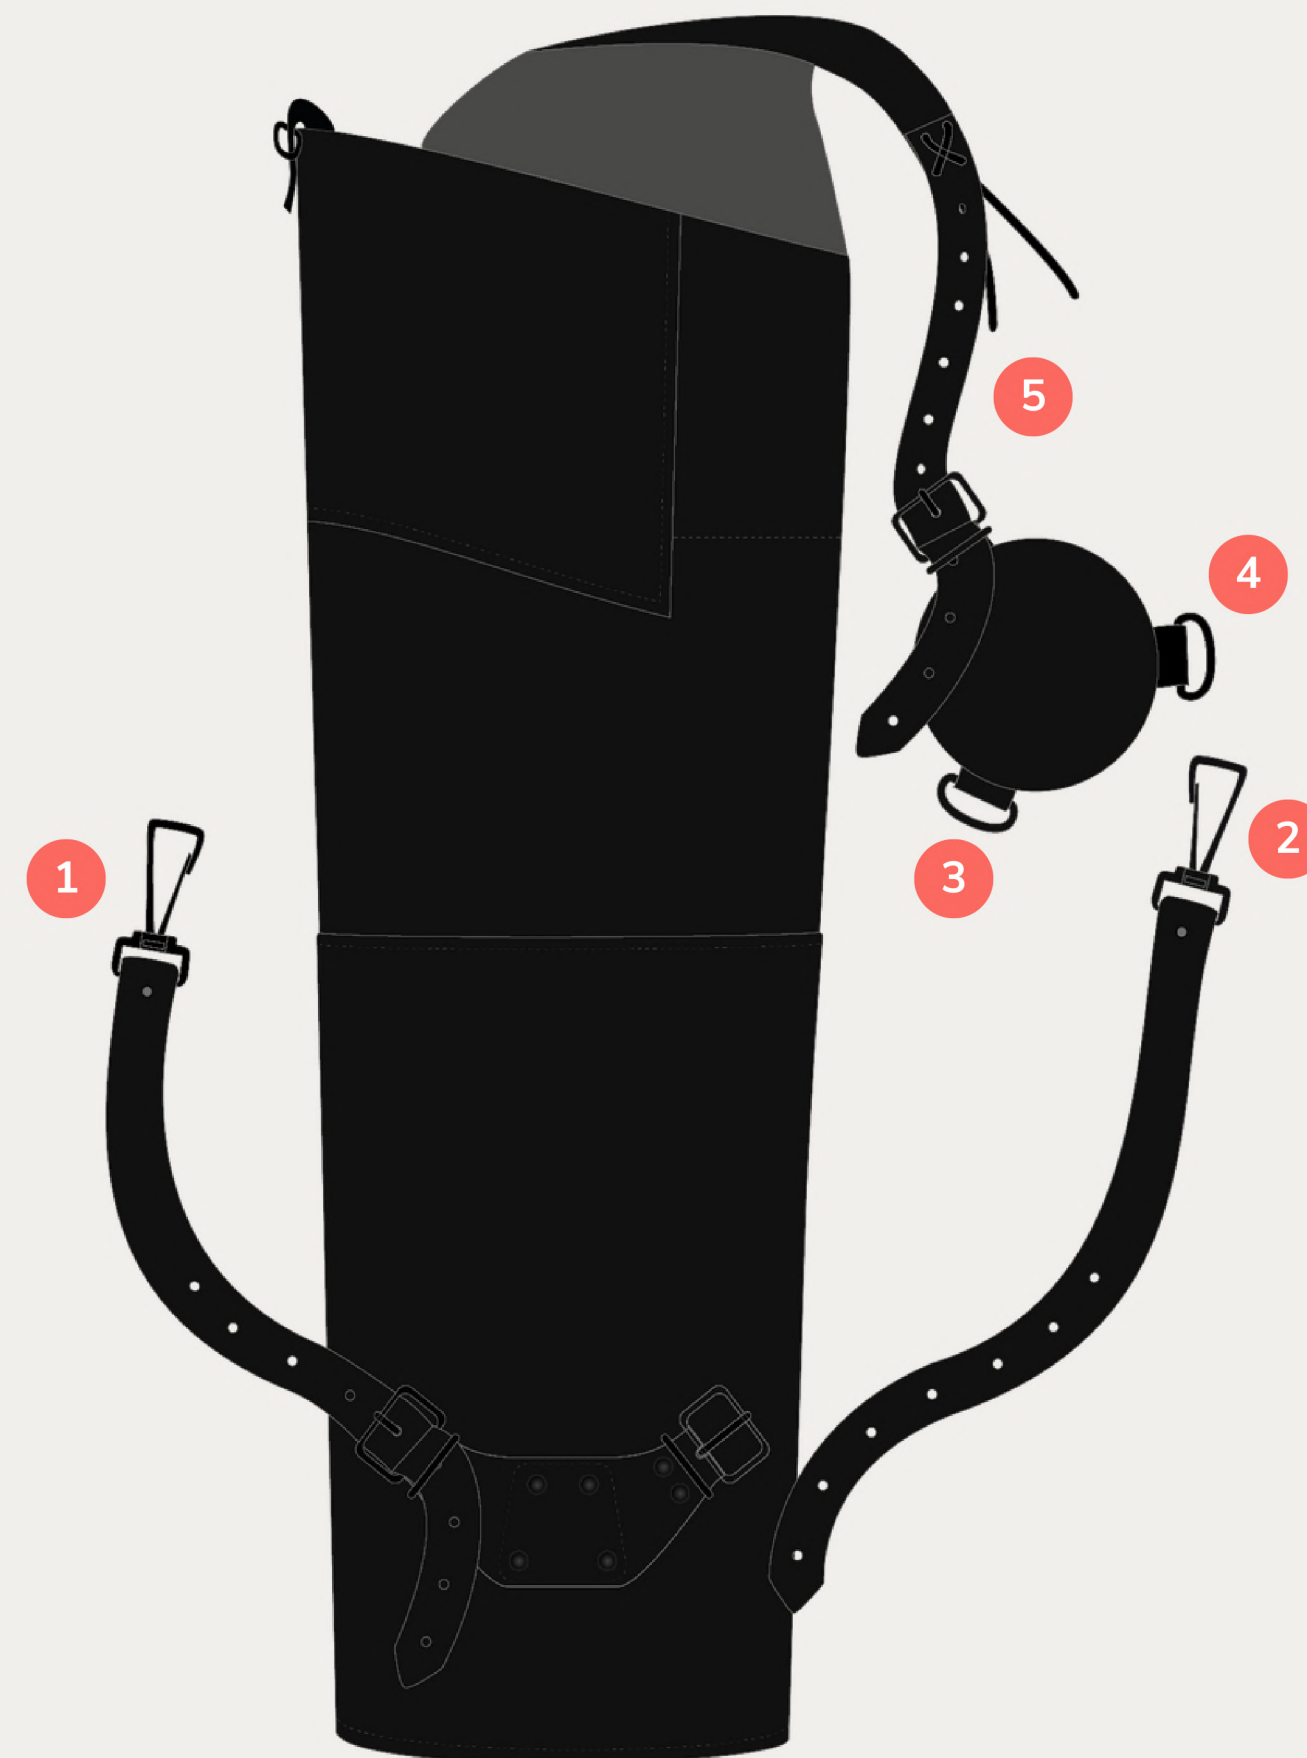

Is your quiver still not perfect? No problem. Use the adjustment options on the straps (1, 2 and 5) to find the right length for you.

Universal Back Quiver "Backpack"

 This is how the quiver looks worn in the "backpack" version!

Universal Back Quiver "Backpack"

In our presentation we use the Back Quiver Dynamic (100044).

With our Dynamic Back Quiver, you basically have two different carrying options. You can wear it universally as a right- or left-handed archer (see page 8 "Universal Back Quiver"). For this carrying option you only need one strap - the other one can be easily removed. The second carrying option is particularly simple: you simply carry the quiver like a backpack. You can put on the two straps (1 and 2) like a backpack and adjust them to your optimal length using the adjustment system.

Universal Back Quiver

Universal Back Quiver

In our presentation we use the back quiver Sun (100036).

The "Universal Back Quiver" can be worn by right and left handed archers. The belt is designed to be placed on the appropriate shoulder. As a right-handed archer you have to put the belt (1) over your back on your right shoulder. Then you can lead the right belt over your chest + belly down to your left hip. There you can fasten your belt in the provided buckle (2). Due to the rings on the upper (3) and lower buckle (2), the belt can be worn flexibly for RH or LH archery.

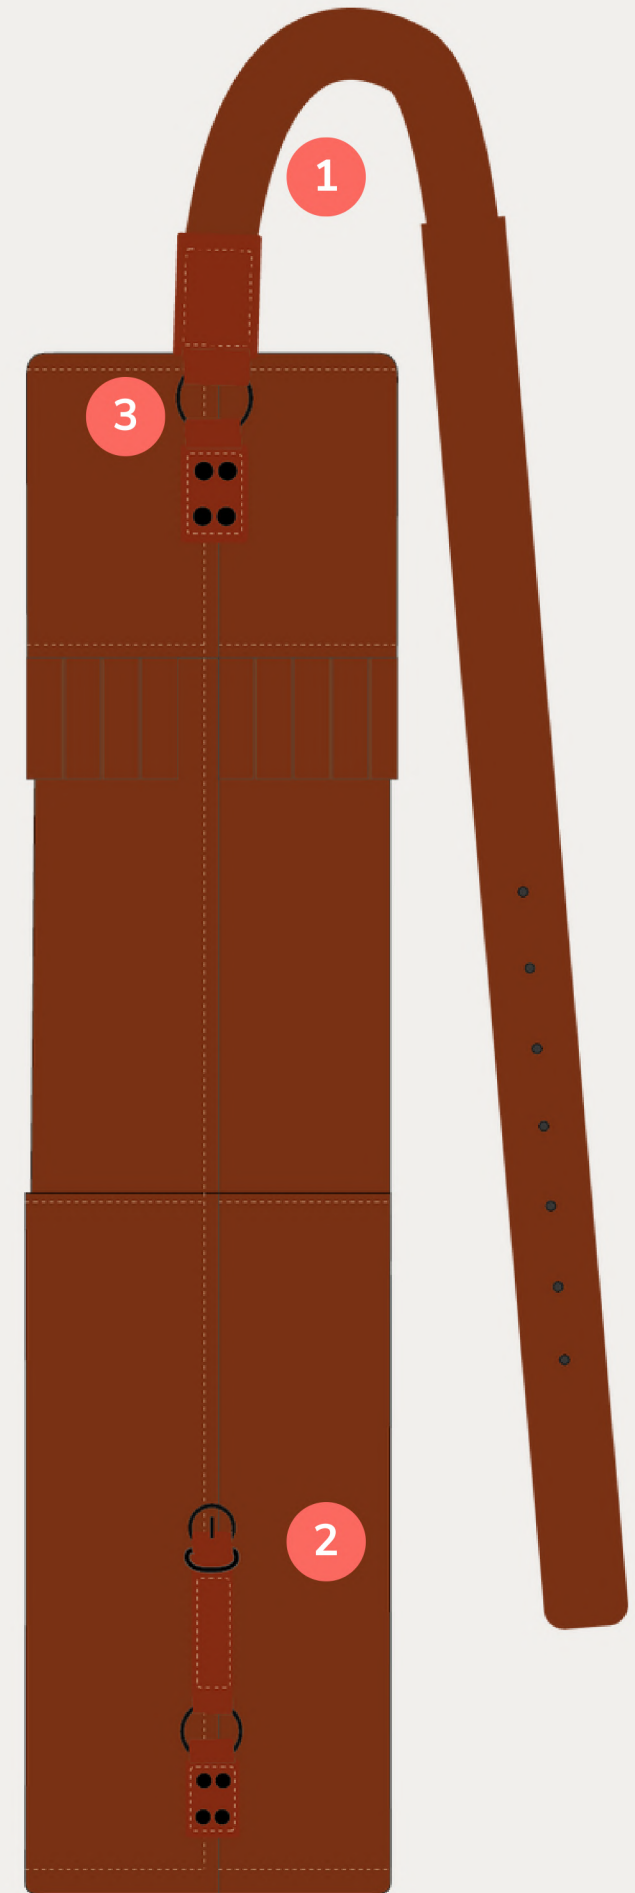

Your quiver not yet perfect? No problem. Use the adjustment options on the belt (1 and 2) to find the right length for you.

Universal Side Quiver

Universal Side Quiver

In our presentation we use the Side Quiver Light (100035).

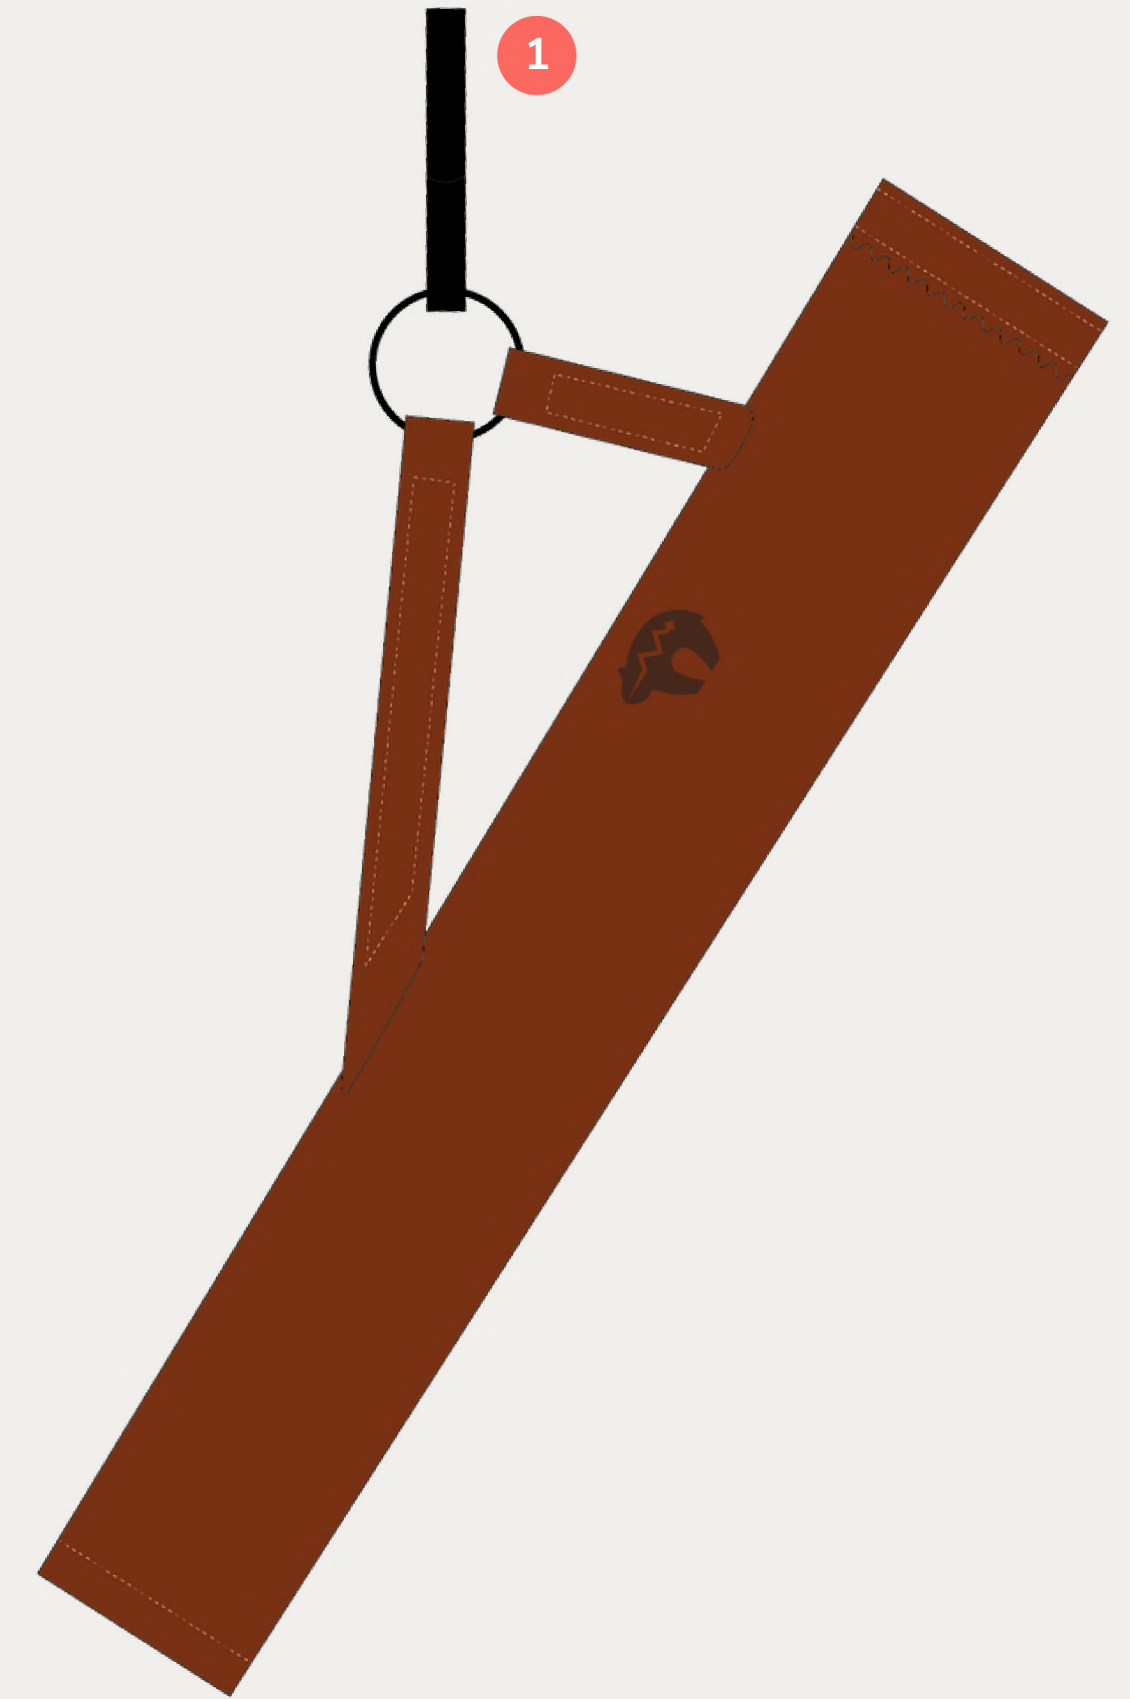

The "Universal Side Quiver" can be worn by right-handed and left-handed archers. The attachment is designed so that it can be worn on the corresponding hip side. As a right-handed archer, you simply have to hang the clip (1) on your right hip side in the waistband of your pants or on your belt. For left-handed archers it is the same, only the other way around: hang the clip on your left hip side in the waistband or on the belt.

Universal Pocket Quiver

Universal Pocket Quiver

In our illustration we use the Slide In pocket quiver (100046).

The "Universal Pocket Quiver" can be carried by right-handed and left-handed archers. The pocket quiver is suitable for two different carrying methods: Putting it in your pants pocket and/or threading it into your belt.

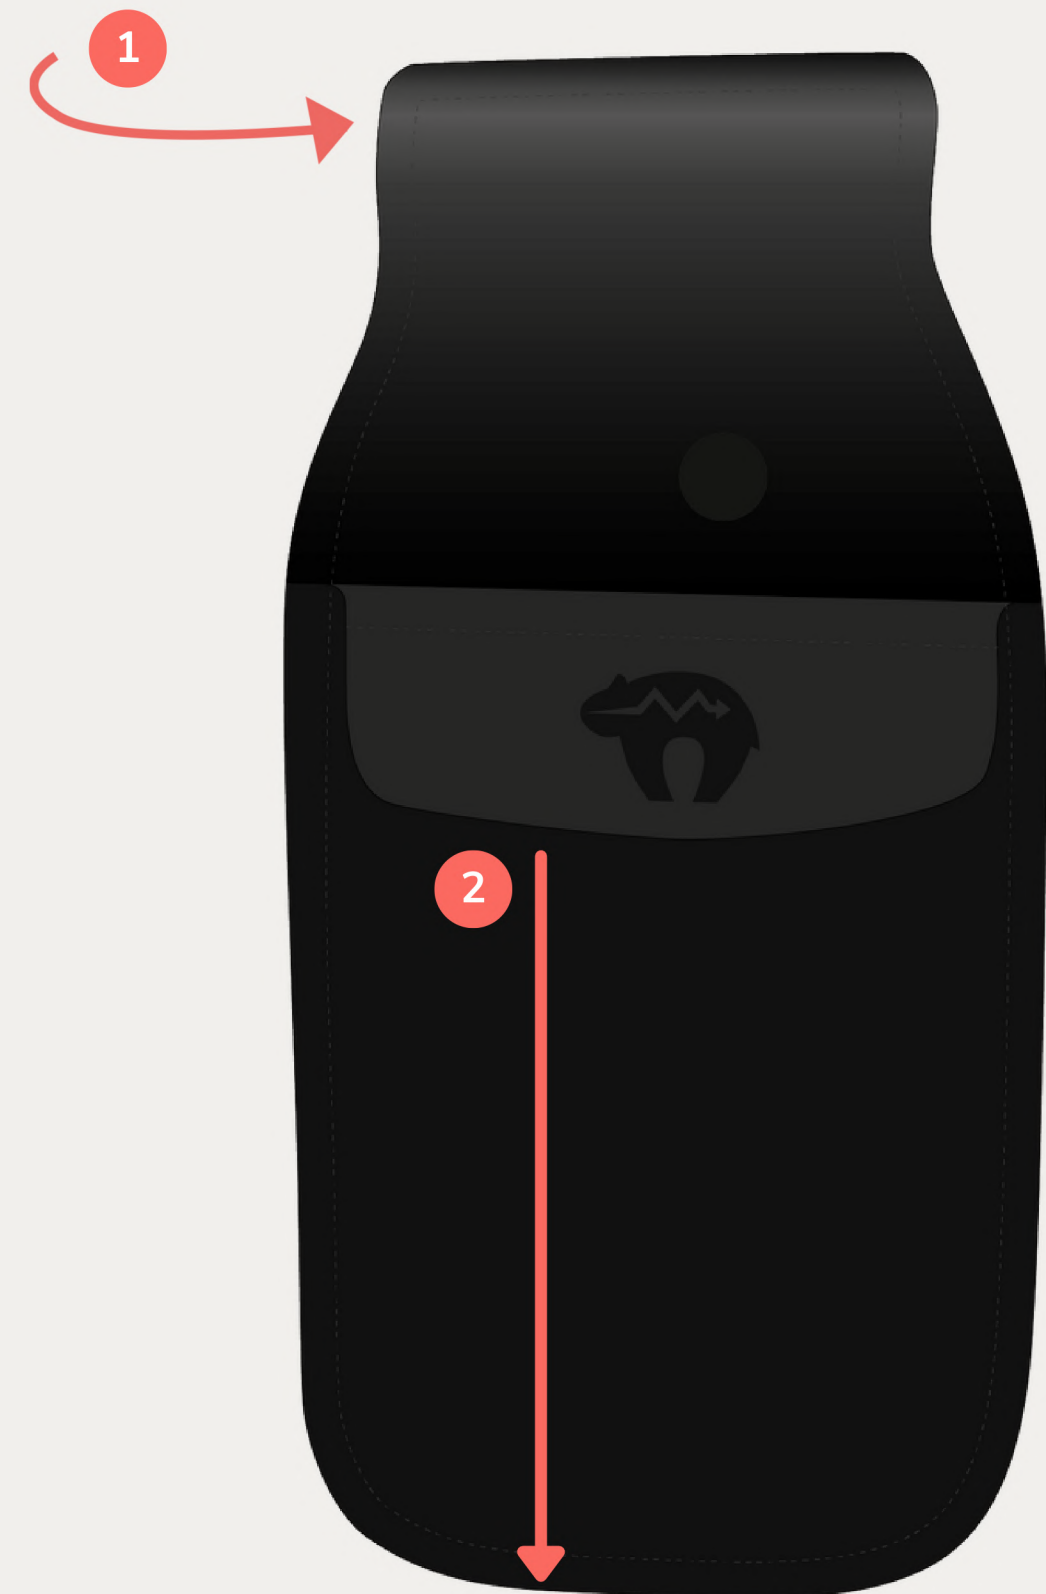

1) Picture: Trouser pocket (+belt)

As a right-handed shooter, simply put the pocket quiver into your right back trouser pocket up to the bottom of the pocket (2). If you like, you can also insert the pocket quiver into the belt beforehand. There is a loop (1) with a snap button for this purpose. As a left-handed archer, you simply use your left trouser pocket.

2) Picture: Belt

If your trouser pocket is too small or you just want to use the belt, this is also very easy. The pocket quiver has a belt loop with push button (1) on the inside, so that you can easily carry your belt through there.

RH | LH Side- and Hip Quiver

RH | LH Side- and Hip Quiver

If you wear a RH quiver because you are a right-handed archer, you must place your pocket or holster quiver on the right side of your hip. The belt loop (1) allows you to easily attach the quiver to your belt. For left-handed archers, the same applies on the left side.

There is one model each for right and left hand archers, because the quivers cannot be worn universally..
