A NEW WHISKY WITH OLD VALUES

Witchmark single malt is crafted at our new English whisky distillery in the heart of southwest Wiltshire, surrounded by the beautiful chalk downlands of the 9,000-acre Fonthill Estate. A modern distillery steeped in the history, heritage and legends of Wiltshire.

Our whisky is distilled in traditional copper pot stills. Witchmark aims to cement a future as a decisive English whisky distillery.

WITCHMARK DISTILLERY: THE BRAND

Our distillery is named after the medieval witch marks that are carved into our beautiful old stone buildings.

One of the most common types of witch mark is the daisy wheel, also known as the hexafoil. As the name suggests, the symbol takes the form of a six-petaled flower.

Witch marks are believed to have turned away evil spirits, providing protection to the building and those who lived or worked within it.

Lucky for us we're only making good spirits!

As you can see, the Witchmark brand also embraces the gin, vodka and botanical spirits that you receive as part of your membership.

All are single origin, made with our own neutral grain spirit at the Witchmark Distillery on the Fonthill Estate.

STARTING LIFE AT OUR OWN BREWERY

Whisky, of course, starts life as 'beer wash'. This essential ingredient is created by the same brewing team behind our award-winning Stone Daisy Brewery – also right here on the Fonthill Estate.

In fact, all the ingredients used to produce our whisky are found on our doorstep.

The pure, naturally chalk-filtered water comes from the ground directly under our feet. And the barley is harvested from the estate's surrounding fields.

The barley is malted using traditional methods at Britain's oldest working malt house in the nearby Wiltshire town of Warminster.

So, as you can see, we've done our best to make sure everything about Witchmark whisky is natural, local, and very, very English.

WHY ENGLISH WHISKY?

The English Whisky Guild has set out to attain Geographical Indicator status for English whisky 'with the overarching vision for English whisky to be recognised globally as a respected choice for whisky drinkers – showcasing the remarkable diversity and quality of unique whiskies, whilst underscoring the tireless pursuit of creativity, inclusivity and innovation.'

English whisky is now an established spirits category both at home and abroad. It remains committed to its craft roots with a focus on the use of quality ingredients – mixed with passion and attention to detail in the production process – to make spirits of rare distinction. Which is why, when a new English whisky steps out, it makes sense to join the journey early.
