This CD publication is dedicated to the memory of George Van Wyke Laughton, MC, a Canadian who served in the British 3rd Army, 34th Division, 26th Battalion, the Northumberland Fusiliers (the Tyneside Irish) during the Great War. (b;7 July 1916 - d;11 June 1966.) See web site <http://www.censol.ca/research/greatwar/> for his details. Please join with us to thank his grandson, Richard Van Wyck Laughton, for loaning us his copy of this wonderful book. We also extend thanks to Joyce Johnston who had already loaned us a previously published Supplement to the 1st edition of this book. The later publication from which this CD is made contains all the information from the supplement.

PREFACE

FOR the past five years Professor G. Oswald Smith has given most careful and helpful attention to the records of those of the graduates and undergraduates who served in the Great War. He has applied at every source where he thought most accurate information might be got, with the result that the Roll of Service, as it is now issued in final form, must be as accurate as earnest investigation can make it. It is a task which could only have been adequately performed by pious care. The record also will be kept and read with almost sacred regard by the friends of those who have fallen and who offered their lives for the cause of freedom. Future generations of graduates and undergraduates of this University will turn to this perpetual memorial.

An outline is given of the different war activities in which the University was engaged during this period. This will recall to many the work in which they had a share, and will let those who come after us know how we sought to do our part in the War.

R. A. FALCONER,
President.

June 13th, 1921.

EDITOR'S PREFACE

THE Roll of Honour contains the records of those who died when on Active Service. They are, with a few exceptions, based on information received from the next-of-kin or friends in each instance. Owing to the large number of the Fallen these memoirs have to be briefer than was originally planned, but all the documents received from relations, such as letters or newspaper accounts, are being kept among the University records, and it is hoped that full copies of them will be made and preserved in a room of the Memorial Tower.

At the head of each record the rank held at the time of death is given, but reversions from a higher rank are shown in the narrative. The place of burial is given when known, though with the removal of bodies to the larger cemeteries it is recognised that some statements in this respect are no longer accurate.

In the next section are given the records of those who died after discharge and within two years from the signing of the Armistice, when death appeared to be due in part to disabilities incurred on Active Service.

In the main Roll of Service are given in abbreviated form the records of those who have returned. In an Appendix are given the records of those who have entered the University for the first time after returning from service. These are not included in the Summary.

In the first line of each record the original graduation year is given, not the date of entry into the University. Where a second year is added in brackets it shows that the man has returned to College and resumed his course. At the end of the first line the Militia unit and rank prior to enlistment for the war are given. The Active Service record begins with the second line.

The battles given are not taken from any official list but are chosen as affording the most convenient indication of each man's service, though it is recognised that this method of description does not adequately suit every case. The battles in which Canadians took part and which are usually given here are Ypres (April 1915); Festubert (May 1915); Givenchy (June 1915); St. Eloi (April 1916); Ypres, including Sanctuary Wood, Zillebeke, Mount Sorrel (June 1916); Somme (September-November 1916); Vimy, including Fresnoy and other engagements south of Lens (April-July 1919); Hill 70 (August 1917); Passchendaele (October-November 1917); Amiens (August 1918); Arras, including Drocourt-Quéant and Canal du Nord (August-September 1918); Cambrai to Valenciennes or Mons (October-November 1918). The records usually close with the signing of the Armistice.

THE ROYAL FLYING CORPS

In the spring of this year the Royal Flying Corps established a training centre for the Dominion with headquarters at Toronto. As the school grew during the next eighteen months a considerable portion of the University or College grounds and buildings were given over to this Force. These were the front and back lawns, parts of the Engineering Building, Convocation Hall, and Hart House, Wycliffe College, most of Burwash Hall, and the University Residences. In 1918 the University back lawn and the quadrangle of Burwash Hall were also filled with tents. The cadets received their preliminary training here, before being sent to the flying camps at Leaside, Borden and Deseronto. In the summer of 1917 many American cadets were seen training in company with the Canadians. In the first days, before the establishment of the school was complete, members of the staff in Applied Science voluntarily gave instruction to the cadets. A large body of instructors was eventually brought to Canada, in which were several members of the University who had seen service at the front. Among the cadets were many of the latest generation of undergraduates, and students from the upper grades of the schools, many of whom entered the University after the war. The propellers now seen in various University buildings are memorials of the stay of this Force in Toronto.

USE OF BUILDINGS AND GROUNDS

Reference may also be made here to other uses made of the buildings either for troops in training or for those engaged in the care of disabled soldiers, who were now returning in large numbers.

Part of Hart House had already been assigned by the Massey Foundation to the District School of Musketry. The remainder of the building was now divided between the Flying Corps, the training school for masseuses and those employed in 'functional re-education.' In addition the part of Burwash Hall not used by the Flying Corps was occupied by the Training Company. One University Residence was for a time used by the N.C.O. Training School, and was then given over with the others to the Flying Corps. The grounds and one wing of Trinity College had previously been occupied by the 123rd and 228th Battalions when training. When St. Andrew's College building was requisitioned by the C.A.M.C. for a hospital the school moved into Knox College. Rooms in the Library, the Physics and Biological Buildings were used by the Hospital Supply Association, the Secours National and similar organisations.

ROLL OF HONOUR

ERIC MONTAGUE ABENDANA July 10, 1892—Oct. 16, 1918

Lieutenant, Canadian Engineers.

Son of J. M. Abendana; b. Port Antonio, Jamaica; ed. St. Andrew's College; Applied Science, 1900-14, B.A.S.C. (Civ. Eng.); Theta Delta Chi; St. Mary's Cement Co.

He was appointed to the Canadian Engineers in January 1916, and went overseas with the 4th Divisional Engineers the following June. In England he was seconded for duty under the War Office in charge of the construction of aerodromes. On rejoining the Engineers, 14th Field Company, he went to France in the spring of 1918, and was transferred to the 2nd Battalion, C.E., in July. Three months later he died of pleurisy at No. 4 Casualty Clearing Station. Buried at Duisans, Etrun.

COLEMAN BOYD ADAMS June 13, 1895—Aug. 15, 1917

Lieutenant, First Battalion.

Son of James H. Adams; b. Hanover; ed. Hanover P.S., Owen Sound C.I.; Victoria College, 1912-15; College Rugby and Hockey teams; C.O.T.C.; 31st Regt., Lieut.

In October 1915 he was appointed to the 147th, Grey County, Battalion, and went overseas in November 1916. At the end of the year he joined the 1st Battalion in France. He served through the battle of Vimy Ridge and the following engagements before Lens. On the day of the capture of Hill 70 he was returning from the front lines after the advance, when a shell struck, instantly killing him and the Corporal who was with him. Buried at Bully-Grenay.

JOSEPH REGINALD ADAMS June 9, 1896—Nov. 26, 1917

Private, Eighth Battalion.

Son of the Rev. G. K. B. Adams; b. Toronto; ed. Brantford P.S., Victoria, B.C., P.S., and H.S., Winnipeg H.S.; Wesley College, Winnipeg; Victoria College, 1912-16, B.A., (Pol. Sc.); College Rugby, Hockey, Tennis teams; C.O.T.C.

In February 1916, he was appointed as Lieutenant to the 141st Battalion. When later the number of officers was reduced he reverted to the ranks and thence won his promotion to Company Sergeant-Major before the battalion went overseas in April 1917. To reach France he again reverted to Private and joined the 8th Battalion in June. After service before Lens through the summer, he was severely wounded at Passchendaele on November 11th, a shell bursting near by just as his section had reached its objective. Two weeks later he died in hospital at Etaples, and was buried in the British cemetery there.

WILLIAM HARVEY AGGETT April 25, 1895—Nov. 6, 1917

Lieutenant, Fourth Battalion.

Son of John T. Aggett; b. Toronto; ed. Rosedale P.S., Jarvis Street C.I., Toronto; Applied Science, 1913-15; Second Rugby and Hockey colours; C.O.T.C.

In March 1915, with a large number of University men, he enlisted in the 25th Battery, 7th Brigade, C.F.A., and went overseas in July. After transferring in England to the 23rd Howitzer Battery, 5th Brigade, he went to France in January 1916, and served in this unit on the Messines front and then through the battles of St. Eloi and Zillebeke—Mount Sorrel. In July he was wounded in the knee and fractured his ankle at Armentières. On his recovery he received his commission in the 4th Infantry Battalion, with which he served at Vimy and through the fighting before Lens and Hill 70. At Passchendaele he was instantly killed while leading his platoon forward from Bellevue Spur to reinforce the 1st Battalion. Buried west of Passchendaele.

ROLL OF HONOUR II.

SAMUEL GEORGE ALDERSON Sept. 18, 1888—March 6, 1917

Captain, Canadian Army Dental Corps.

Son of Thomas A. Alderson; b. Waterdown; ed. Carlisle P.S., Waterdown P.S.; R. College Dental Surgeons 1907-11, D.D.S.; Practising at Hamilton.

In October 1915 he was appointed to the Army Dental Corps, with which he served till he was invalided. After a long illness he died at Carlisle a few days following his discharge.

ALAN FEATHERSTON AYLESWORTH Aug. 9, 1880—Aug. 24, 1919

Major, Ninety-fifth Battalion.

Only son of Sir Allen Aylesworth; b. Toronto; ed. Upper Canada College; University College 1897-1901, B.A.; Law School; Barrister, firm of Aylesworth, Wright, Moss & Thompson; 36th Regt., Lieut.; md. Gladys Burton.

In September 1915 he was appointed to the 74th Battalion, and in November transferred to the 95th Battalion. He went overseas in May 1916. During part of 1917 he was attached to the War Office for special duty. At the end of that year he was invalided home and discharged shortly afterwards. During the following months he was in ill health, and died at Barrie on August 24th, 1919.

WILFRED ROBERT BAUER Nov. 29, 1893—Oct. 11, 1918

Lieutenant, Canadian Field Artillery.

Son of Alois Bauer; b. Kitchener; et. Waterloo P.S., Kitchener C.I., St. Jerome's College; Applied Science 1913-15; C.O.T.C.

In March 1915 he enlisted in the 25th Battery, C.F.A., and left Canada in May. He transferred to the 23rd Battery in England and reached France in January 1916. During the year he served in the battle of St. Eloi, at Ypres, and at the Somme, where he was wounded at Courcellette. For a time he was attached to the 1st Divisional Headquarters in charge of cable laying. In the autumn of 1916 he was invalided and spent several months in hospital. Returning to Canada he received his commission and was appointed Military Representative in No. 1 District in connection with the Military Service Act. After his discharge in February 1918, he served on the Military Hospital Vocational Training staff. He died from influenza at his home in Waterloo.

LAWRENCE SAMUEL BEATTY March 16, 1893—Sept. 4, 1920

Lieutenant, Royal Naval Volunteer Reserve.

Son of the late James H. Beatty; b. Thorold; ed. Queen Victoria P.S., Parkdale C.I., Toronto; Victoria College 1913-14, Medicine 1915-16; G.G.B.G., Lieut.

He was appointed in August 1916 to the R.N.V.R., and in June 1917 went to Malta. He served in Motor Launches 438 and 344, and in command of H.M.M.L. 41, and H.M.M.L. 164. He was employed on escort and patrol duty and mine-sweeping in the Mediterranean. He was discharged in June 1919, and died in the next year after a long illness.

ALFRED CHRISTIAN CLEEVES June 2, 1890—May 21, 1919

Lieutenant, Canadian Garrison Artillery.

Son of Frederick Cleeves; b. Rotherham, Eng.; ed. Eastbourne College; Farming at Saanich, B.C.; Ontario Agricultural College 1911-14, B.S.A.; md. Janet O. Story.

613 were killed in action or died on service.

Of the Officers 726 were promoted from the ranks, 411 receiving commissions in the Canadian Forces, 306 in the Imperial Service, and 9 in the Allied Forces. Most of those who received Imperial commissions enlisted originally in the C.E.F. 116 who are included in the ranks were Cadets in training at the time of the Armistice.

The distribution by branches of the Service is shown on the next page.

In these figures are not included 105 members of the University, reported as being on Active Service, concerning whom no information could be obtained.

This summary does not include those who have entered the University after returning from Active Service, and whose records are given in the Appendix that follows.

A non-commercial, free, single lookup may be performed to assist a friend or acquaintance in their historical research but a period of at least six months must pass before providing that same individual with a further single non-commercial free look-up service from this recorded data.

If you wish to copy this file for your own purposes or to freely pass it on to another you must copy the entire file as it came to you without any omissions or alteration. If you copy this product to a third party you must do so with this license intact and included.

By downloading this file you have not acquired title or ownership of the software materials or data contained in it. This license grants you a limited, non-exclusive, non-transferable license to use the software only. This license permits only a single user on a single site to access the file at any given time. (For multi-user licensing or for library use please contact Archive CD Books Canada Inc. at the address given below.) If you wish to copy the contents of the file to a CD-ROM or other permanent storage medium for data backup purposes the CD-ROM must be stored under your personal supervision and you shall prevent it from being used by anyone else.

You are prohibited from translating, disassembling, recompiling or reverse engineering any part or the whole of the software.

The software may not be loaned, rented or leased or be used for any form of remunerated gain.

There is no warranty of any kind expressed or implied on the quality or content of this freely downloadable file. By downloading the file you agree that Archive CD Books Canada Inc. will not be held responsible for any malfunction, incorrect operation or damage, directly or indirectly caused by the downloading, storage or use of this software.

If you do not agree with the terms of this license you will take steps to delete or otherwise remove the file from your computer system and its storage system immediately without further use. All conditions of this license agreement apply to each copy of the file no matter how they were acquired.

This license agreement is governed by the laws of Canada.
